

JAPAN WILL PROTEST U.S. ORIENTAL BAN

Hanihara, New Envoy to Capital, Says His Country Will Oppose Discrimination Against Nipponese Subject

Declares Islands Not Overcrowded; Ambassador Warren Back From Tokyo Sees Only Peace in Situation

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—(By International News Service.)—Announcing that he came as an advocate of open diplomacy and as a believer in laying all the cards on the table, Masanao Hanihara, new Japanese ambassador to Washington, who arrived in San Francisco today, below, CHAS. R. WARREN, U. S. Envoy to Japan, who is on his way to Washington to resign.

He arrived 24 hours after Ambassador Charles Becher Warren, American envoy to Tokyo, had reached the United States, and announced that all Pacific misunderstandings had been cleared up.

JAPAN IS OPPOSED TO DISCRIMINATION.

Japan, he said, did not question the right of the American Congress to pass any legislation it desired with reference to immigration, but admitted Japan would not look kindly on legislation which would discriminate against the Japanese.

Hanihara said:

"The purpose of Japan is to keep up good relations with the United States and to even better them if that be possible. I understand I am expected to say something with regard to immigration, but as to that I have no special mission."

"Since the disarmament matter, the feeling of Japan is that the period of secret diplomats has passed and that both governments may place their cards on the table and discuss matters freely and without fear."

"Japan recognizes that the question of immigration is a matter for the United States to decide and know that the United States will not do anything detrimental to its own interests."

"Japan feels that immigration should not discriminate between any race or nationality, but rather should discriminate between the quality of nations than nations themselves."

"The Japanese people have never been in favor of sending Japanese laborers into the United States. As a matter of fact, the Japanese government has issued no passports for the immigration of Japanese laborers into the United States since 1907. Some few may have slipped through, some may have been smuggled in, but the Japanese government has tried very hard to avoid this."

JAPAN IS NOT NOW OVERCROWDED.

The ambassador denied that Japan is the over-populated country she is sometimes pictured to be. As yet, Japan is "not up against the wall" to find space for her population, Hanihara declared.

"Japan's total population in foreign countries does not exceed 500,000," he said. "If Japan's 'teeming' millions were so crowded as is sometimes claimed, she would be sending from 250,000 to 300,000 outside every year."

"As a matter of fact, Japan sends forth only a small fraction of that number and practically as many usually. Her overflow is only the normal one for a country of her size."

Ambassador Hanihara revealed that legislation is now pending in the Japanese diet which would have the effect of permitting foreigners to own land in Japan. This bill, he said, extended to individuals the rights accorded to corporations. Laws passed ten years ago which barred foreigners from land leasing, he said, had never really been enforced.

With reference to immigration and pending legislation on that subject in the U. S. Congress, Hanihara declared there was no anxiety in Japan over relations with the United States on that score.

Hanihara was welcomed by Mayor James Rolph and city officials, and by the Chamber of Commerce committee headed by Wallace M. Alexander and by Col. L. M. Frammel, representing Gen. Charles G. Morton of the Presidio. After the first word of greetings were exchanged the party proceeded to the Fairmont Hotel, where Hanihara and his party took

SUNDAY WORK ON STADIUM BANNED

Regents, Pastors and Contractors Agree After Indignation Meeting.

BERKELEY, Feb. 12.—Sunday will be observed as a day of rest by the 600 workers on the one million member stadium of the University of California.

That is unless a real emergency arises which will make Sabbath labor mandatory. These were the plans of an agreement reached today between Comptroller Robert Sprout, representing the regents of the University of California, Dr. B. Dennett, president of the Berkeley Fellowship of Churches, and C. D. Bates of the contracting firm of Bates & Borland, which has charge of the preliminary excavation of the proposed stadium.

A meeting of the Berkeley ministers held at the Trinity M. E. Church Saturday night. As the result a workman was on the job Sunday at the stadium site in Strawberry Canyon.

According to Sprout, who has charge of the negotiation in behalf of the regents, the stadium preliminary work has progressed to such a degree that Sunday work is not as necessary as it has been in the past.

According to C. D. Bates, one of the contractors in charge, it has been absolutely necessary to labor on Sunday, unless much of the progress of the preceding week be lost.

Consumers Saved 20 Millions in Year

BY UNITED PRESS. SACRAMENTO, Feb. 12.—Public utility rate reductions effected by the state railroad commission during the past fiscal year, saved California consumers approximately $20,000,000, according to the final report of the utility commission.

DEATH PLOT SEEN AS JAIL BREAK FAILS

Assassination of Former Captain of Detectives Petersen and Two Others Believed Aim Captured Ex-Convict

Man Is Jailed After a Battle When Third Attempt to "Visit Friend" in the City Prison Is Nipped in Bud

Belief that an attempt was to have been made last night to take the life of Captain Walter J. Petersen, former head of the police detective bureau and of two present members of the department if the attempted jail break from the city prison, for which one of them is under arrest, had been successful, was expressed today by sleuths, probing the circumstances surrounding the frustrated delivery.

William P. Richards, said to be an ex-convict, is a prisoner in the city jail today, under strict surveillance following his arrest last night after a battle within the prison. At the time of his arrest Richards had hidden in his clothing the police say, a pistol with 90 rounds of ammunition and a blue gun. Before entering the jail on the pretense of visiting a prisoner, Richards had been shown a detailed map of the cells and corridors, it was brought out during today's police investigation.

SECOND MAN IS SOUGHT.

While the prisoner is being grilled by detectives in an effort to secure all of the details regarding the alleged plot, search was being made today for another man who is known to have conferred with Richards before he made the second trip to the jail and was subsequently arrested.

Cards found in Richards' possession today gave rise to the belief that an attempt was to have been made against the lives of the former detective captain and two inspectors. Upon these cards were written the names of the three men and detailed directions of how to reach their residences, including what street cars to take where to get off and how many blocks to walk.

The two detectives who, with Petersen, is believed were marked for death are George Powers and Alexander Trotter. Both of these officers are known to be in disfavor with the Oakland underworld element, due to the arrest of numerous crooks, and the possibility of a revenge motive was being probed. Petersen is also known to have a number of enemies among criminals.

All of the prisoners in the city jail have been questioned in an effort to establish some connection with Richards.

PLOT FOILED BY CAPTAIN KYLE.

Richards' alleged attempt to set free a certain prisoner or several prisoners in the city prison, was frustrated by the quick action of Night Captain of Detectives William Kyle. When he was placed under arrest last night, Richards fought a desperate battle with the night captain in one of the corridors of the jail, and was overpowered, only after being struck down.

According to the police Richards first appeared last night at the police garage of the city hall where he found that George Mulholland and Patrick McKeegan were on duty in the jail. He then asked the elevator man on duty to be taken to the thirteenth floor to see a prisoner.

This was refused and he next went to the desk sergeant and next to the doorkeeper and next to the

Five Die in Fire; Burned Woman Becomes Mother

INDIANA, Pa., Feb. 12.—Andrew Polack and four of his children were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home in a remote part of Indiana county yesterday. Mrs. Polack, who was badly burned, was brought to a hospital here where, a few hours later, she became the mother of a daughter. Physicians said both would live.

SOCIETY WOMAN'S CORPSE IN WELL

Body of Mrs. C. B. Hooper Found at Woodside; Suicide Feared.

WOODSIDE, Feb. 12.—The body of Mrs. Clara B. Hooper, 53 years old, prominent Woodside society matron, and former wife of William H. Hooper, wealthy San Francisco mining man, was found at the bottom of an abandoned well near her home today. According to the authorities evidence pointed to the theory that she had committed suicide.

According to relatives whom the woman had recently been visiting in Marin county, she left to return home yesterday. Mrs. Hooper had been in ill health for several months and recently had been under treatment at a San Francisco hospital. Relatives declared that she was often despondent as a result of her poor physical condition, and had threatened to end her life.

It is their belief that after returning home she was a victim of a temporary spell of melancholia and jumped in the well.

Mrs. Hooper is survived by one son, William H. Hooper Jr., and two daughters, Mrs. Helene Hooper Treat and Miss Annette Hooper of San Francisco.

Mrs. Hooper and her husband, who is well known in San Francisco mining circles, separated through a divorce action some time ago.

S. F. Police Locate Alleged Bunco King

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—Police were notified today of the arrest through information they had supplied of "Buddie" Hayes, alias Hampton, alias Muller, alias Haggerty, in Detroit. Hayes, according to local police, is wanted by Miami, Fla., authorities on charges that he swindled P. R. Nicholson of Dillonville, Ohio, out of $120,000 through a bunco game.

The Florida authorities learned Hayes' wife was in San Francisco and located her through the local police department. Hayes was located at a Detroit hotel under the name of Haggerty, the local police report shows.

Berkeleyan Badly Slashed in Fight

RICHMOND, Feb. 12.—Thomas Juarez, of 31 Delaware street, Berkeley, is at the Cottage Hospital, suffering from severe wounds today as the result of a fight with Lorenzo F. Espinoza, 447 C street, Richmond, which occurred on B street last night. Juarez received a five-inch wound extending from the back of the neck to the chin and a four-inch wound on the hip.

His alleged assailant has been taken under arrest. Juarez was taken to the emergency hospital and from there to the Cottage Hospital. A broken razor, believed to have been used in the fight, was recovered by the police.

IRISH LEADER THREE SLAIN IS SHOT DEAD IN CLASH IN BY RAIDERS RHINELAND

Dr. Thos. O'Higgins, Father of Free State Minister, and Healey's Brother-in-Law, Assassinated at Home

President Cosgrave, Eamonn De Valera Ready to Submit Question of Erin Republic to Decision of the Voters

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. DUBLIN, Feb. 12.—Dr. Thomas O'Higgins of Maryborough, father of Kevin O'Higgins, free state minister of home affairs, was assassinated last night.

The victim is a brother-in-law of Timothy Healy, governor general of the Free State.

The tragedy occurred at Woodlands near Stradbally. A party of armed men drew up near the O'Higgins' residence at 7 o'clock Sunday evening, and three men went to it, approached the house and demanded admittance. Dr. O'Higgins replied that in consequence of a communication recently completed, he would not admit anyone, but on plea of wanting to see the document, the raiders forced him to open the door.

SHOTS TEAR OFF TOP OF VICTIM'S SKULL.

One of the armed men then fired, leaving his two companions on the doorstep.

While the raiders inside were reading the document, O'Higgins, who was 70 years old, disarmed him, snatching away his revolver.

The raiders shot to his two companions to fire. They responded with the fatal shots, which took off the top of Dr. O'Higgins' skull.

Miss Mary MacSwiney and Mrs. Clark, widow of Tom Clark, who was executed in 1916, were arrested, together with their mothers, in a raid by Free State forces today upon the republican central publicity office here, which had just been reopened.

SURRENDER MADE UNDER NEW AMNESTY.

DUBLIN, Feb. 11.—(By The Associated Press.)—The first official report of a surrender under the government's new amnesty decree has been received from County Cork, where a number of irregulars, accompanied by their leader, delivered up their arms and ammunition at the Newmarket military barracks and entered into an undertaking not to fight against the Free State government.

QUESTION OF REPUBLIC TO BE PUT TO VOTERS.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—(By The Associated Press.)—President Cosgrave of the Dail Eireann, in a statement to the "Daily Mail" declared that he was ready to agree that Eamonn de Valera should advise his followers to surrender their arms on the condition that the question of a republic or the free state should be left to the voters.

President Cosgrave's declaration was made unhesitatingly in reply to the interviewer's question. He added: "The new franchise list will not be ready before June or July, but I would then be more than willing to leave the decision of Ireland's government to the people, the election to be fought on the system of proportional representation."

"There is not a seat in Ireland that DeValera could win under those conditions, not even Clare, where he won his last seat, nor West Cork, where the irregulars are supposed to be strong."

DE VALERA'S FOLLOWING DECLARED VERY SMALL.

"De Valera's following is actually very small," Cosgrave said, "and is composed of irresponsible, young men and women."

French Send Tanks to Check Threatened Strike by German Workers Near Bochum; Boycott Extended

Invaders Deny Germany All Products of Ruhr; Millions of Marks for Strikers Are Seized; Agents Jailed

ESSEN, Feb. 12.—(United Press.)—Because French troops cleared the streets here with cocked rifles last night all stores and restaurants of Essen refused to sell anything to the invading troops today.

A state of siege was declared at Essen following disorders. There were reports of disturbances in various parts of occupied areas.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. LONDON, Feb. 12.—A Central News despatch from Berlin today says two French soldiers and one German were killed in a clash at Gelsenkirchen, in the Ruhr, this morning, when German soldiers halted a motor car containing French soldiers.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. DUESSELDORF, Feb. 12.—Reports that the Germans are organizing a general strike at Essen, not far from Bochum, have led to the despatch of French tanks to that place.

The Germans are boycotting the forces of occupation throughout the Ruhr district, and the French have been obliged to take over the work of some of the German police.

The boycott is becoming more and more popular throughout the Ruhr, and the Germans have decided to extend it to Essen, refusing to do business with the French and Belgians, beginning today.

FOOD, RAW MATERIAL, EMBARGO ON RUHR.

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. ESSEN, Feb. 12.—France and Belgium will deny Germany all products of the Ruhr from midnight tonight until the Cuno government capitulates or agrees to pay heavy duties.

Irreparable supplies of steel and iron, as well as fuel and the finished products of factories, will be sent to Germany until the issue is settled.

Temper of inhabitants of the occupied areas was aroused by announcement of these new restrictions. It was reported that secret organizations of Ruhr citizens are now meeting regularly.

German officials are doing everything in their power to foster strikes in the occupied zones and the French to combat them.

The report from Worms today said the French seized a half a million marks there and sixty million at Mayence to prevent the Germans utilizing the money to pay strikers. A number of agents distributing strike funds were arrested.

The French informed the mayor of Essen they will help themselves to coal here if this district fails to meet the needs.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The British labor party, "his majesty's opposition," today outlined its foreign policy in a typical manner upon the new parliament.

Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the party in the House of Commons, said there would be four main points:

1.—Great Britain should renounce her reparations claim against Germany.

2.—French troops should be required to withdraw from the Ruhr.

3.—The "Russian" republic should be recognized.

Stands by Grant

REP. STEPHEN S. WISE, who declares that freedom of interpretation should be extended to the Bible as well as to other books.

FAMOUS RABBI CHAMPIONS GRANT

"Heresy Hunters" Blamed by Rev. S. S. Wise of the New York Synagogue.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Asserting that he did not believe certain details regarding the delivery of the Ten Commandments to Moses on Mount Sinai, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of the Free Synagogue, in a sermon at Carnegie Hall today, challenged officials of the Jewish church to "banish" him for heresy.

"There are heresy hunters in the Jewish churches, as there are in the Protestant, and they would banish me if they could," he said.

His sermon, "Recant or Resign; Church and Synagogue Versus Freedom," was devoted mainly to a defense of the Rev. Dr. Percy S. Wise of the Free Synagogue, who was challenged by Bishop William T. Manning over the delivery of Christ.

Bishop Manning was challenged by Rabbi Wise with evasion in his reply to Dr. Grant, and he declared that it would have meant "death to the moral and spiritual life of the Christian church" for Dr. Grant to recant.

"I am a Jew of Jews," Rabbi Wise asserted, "but the freedom of religion is in peril and liberty is interdenominational. I have a peg staked in the fields of truth and I cannot view the issue with unconcern."

The Grant case, he continued, was the third heresy controversy of the year and he championed Grant unreservedly.

At the same time, Dr. Grant, rector of the Church of the Ascension, was delivering a sermon on "Should Liberalism Be Generally Taught?" in which he declared he did not believe in some factors mentioned in connection with the birth of Christ. He said he had received many letters from those finding fault with him for "undermining Christianity."

GRANT STANDS BY HIS BELIEF.

"I can still hold my attention upon the great lessons of that sermon and preach upon the spirituality of these lessons, yet retain my belief regarding the birth of Christ."

"Dr. Grant made no reference to the recent challenge of Bishop Manning for him to state his denial of the birth of Christ in unambiguous terms."

"I am very much interested in the remarks which Rabbi Stephen S. Wise made yesterday at New York. He is among the most powerful preachers in America today, and his views always deserve respectful attention. I thoroughly agree with Dr. Wise in his remarks about the Ten Commandments. These laws form the basis of civilization today, but the Bible narrative, has gained certain details which do not square with modern science. These laws were given forty centuries ago to simple people. And the story which tells about them in Exodus is naturally different from the way we would tell that same story today."

"I sympathize with Dr. Grant in his earnest efforts to liberate the modern church."

ALLIES WILL DEFEAT TURK ULTIMATUM

British Navy Ignores Moslem Threats, Begins to Sweep Mines Planted Near Gateway to the Smyrna Harbor

Score of Foreign Warships Anchored Off Port With Guns Trained on City; Parley at Constantinople

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. PARIS, Feb. 12.—Mustapha Kemal, commander-in-chief of the Turkish armies, is reported at Smyrna, where the Ottoman ultimatum to allied warships to leave the harbor may expire at any time.

The French government is without definite information as to when the latest ultimatum ends. Constantinople despatches have stated it was for three days, without announcing the hour it commenced.

BY DAVID M. CHURCH, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The allied naval commanders at Smyrna will reject new Turkish "ultimatum" that the foreign warships in the harbor must leave within three days, according to reliable news from Constantinople this afternoon. The original Turkish demand that all foreign warships of more than 1000 tons leave the Smyrna harbor was issued "one week ago today, expiring Tuesday night." It was extended until Wednesday night and eventually a temporary agreement was reached, but apparently the Turks have been withdrawn from it.

Admiral Nicholson of the British navy, in defiance of the Turks, has swept up a number of mines planted by the Turkish naval authorities near the entrance to the Smyrna harbor. There is now a clear passage for the warships. The Admiralty has been advised.

CONSTANTINOPLE PARLEY CONTINUES.

Negotiations between the Turkish and allied authorities at Constantinople continue at the conference of Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation in the Near East peace conference, and the allied high commissioners later in the week.

More than a score of foreign warships are at anchor off Smyrna with their guns turned on the city. British dreadnaughts are cruising outside the harbor. A number of sloops bearing machine guns are lying off the Smyrna pier.

SENDING OF ULTIMATUM IS CONFIRMED.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—Reports from London that the Turks have renewed their ultimatum to the allied warships at Smyrna is confirmed by the morning papers today.

It appears that last Saturday the Turks announced they would wait three days longer, after which they reserved the right to act. The French government, it seems, was the first to receive the news, communicating it to London.

BRITISH SEND MORE DESTROYERS TO EAST.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. VALENTIA, Malta, Feb. 12.—It is understood the British force of destroyers in Turkish waters is being added to by another flotilla from the Atlantic fleet, presumably the Turkish fleet, is reported to be en route to Malta, destined for the Dardanelles. This will make the number of British destroyer flotillas in near eastern waters five.

The allied policy, it is said, is in no way modified by the new move of the Turks and should they use force the warships have orders to defend themselves.

According to advices received here from Constantinople the Turks maintain their right to close Smyrna and Izmil to foreign warships, but that up to the present there has been no renewal of their ultimatum to the allied men-of-war to depart.

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The British government is without confirmation from General Harington, British commander at Constantinople, that the Turks have issued a new ultimatum to foreign warships to leave Smyrna harbor, was announced by the foreign office this afternoon.

NO MAIN BREAKS. SIX ARE KILLED IN JERSEY TOWN

Whole Family Is Wiped Out
by Accident; Dozen Others Are Overcome.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
GARDEN, N. J., Feb. 12.—Six dead and a dozen others were killed this morning when a gas main broke in the business center of Pittman, 15 miles southeast of here, covering several blocks with deadly fumes.

The entire family of William
Bucci, a shoemaker, was wiped out.
The six bodies were found by rescue workers. Firemen and others were working with volunteer resources were overcome. An emergency hospital set up in the center of the town was crowded with victims.
Ambulances are being used to remove them.

The bodies of Bucci, his wife and four children, ranging in age from two to 14 years, were found in the house. Bucci and one daughter, Josephine, were fully dressed. The other members of the family were found dead in bed.

Firemen, equipped with gas masks, invaded the section of the town where the gaspiping was entering business houses and homes and rescued a dozen persons who had been overcome and who were after revived.

Funeral For 60 Mine Victims Held

DAWSON, N. M., Feb. 12.—(By United Press).—The bodies of 75 victims of the Dawson mine explosion had been removed from the shaft here early today.

Simple funeral services were held over the bodies of sixty of the victims yesterday. Five more bodies have been located far back in the tunnel, according to rescuers and it was believed the remaining 45 would be recovered today or tomorrow.

Only two miners have survived the terrific blast of Thursday that entombed 122 men in Dawson mine
No. 1, and no hope is held for the others. Rescue squads of 50 men each have been working in four-hour shifts since the explosion.

Debt Bill Not to Displace Subsidy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Joint tion of power interests formed to combat the Act. In concluding, he said:

"It is the shame of our modern American life that so many elections should be conducted at such huge expense."

jority government party in the diet, decided to oppose the vote for the establishment of a mission to the vatican at Rome. It was announced here today. This change of policy was the result of the opposition of the Buddhist priests, it was stated.

This decision places the cabinet in an awkward position, as the vatican representative already has arrived in Japan.

The Kenseikai, minority party of the diet, has steadily opposed the establishment of an exchange of missions, while, heretofore, the Seizukai party, has supported the proposal.

ing the directions of how to reach Peterson's home and the two inspectors were found in his pocket.

Richards later told the officers that he wished to see a man by the name of Smith, whom he had befriended, and later robbed his summer home and was arrested.
He said that he had started to look for a man named Griffiths who had helped Smith with the burglary, but who had escaped, and he had the weapons for this reason. Police have no record of the burglary nor the prisoner.

According to the police, last August when Richards was found in possession of a stolen automobile, the property of L. C. Allen, 1427
Linden street, he drew a gun on Lewis, 875 Oak street, who attempted to recover the machine at thirty-seventh and Market streets.
He was charged with grand larceny and tried, but a disagreement resulted in his being held in $2000 for retial.

Further investigation of the man's past today, according to the police, revealed that he was convicted for burglary in Alameda county in 1916 and served a year in San Quentin.

Oakland Man Held For S. F. Stabbing

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—
Zamboni, Caesar, living at the Hotel Merritt, Oakland, was arrested this morning on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and assault to commit murder after he had been identified by Peter Si-monetti, 34 years old, of 1439 Carlina street, San Francisco, as the man who stabbed him seven times.
Simonetti is at the Mission
Emergency hospital in a critical condition. According to Simonetti's story to the police he was attending a house party at 27 Crane avenue, San Francisco, and there met Caesar. The two left the party together and Caesar was accompanying Simonetti home. A quarrel took place and Caesar is alleged to have stabbed Simonetti.

German Mark Gains By Reichsbank Aid

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—The German mark gained today, reaching 23,000 to the dollar, following action of the reichsbank in dumping more foreign securities on the market.
Having temporarily suspended reparations payments, the reichsbank has been able to go to the rescue of the mark, but financial observers believe the check in the slump will be of brief duration.

TAFFETA FROCKS
for SPRING

ALWAYS the first rustic of Spring is the rustic of taffeta—it has just that breezy charm that suits the season. And for a between-season frock it recommends itself ideally by its freshness, its feeling of "difference" and its inexpensive pricing.

This season's taffetas feature basques, berthas, and bouffant skirts, with trimmings of French flowers, narrow fluted ruffles, velvet ribbons, and ecru or silver laces. Colors are black, navy, brown, cocoa, and changeable tints.

The sleeves of this interesting black taffeta are adorned with tiny up over their trimmings of silver lace, which outlines neck and sleeves as well. $69.75

COUPLE FOILED IN ATTEMPT TO TAKE OWN LIVES

Joseph Bracco's Domestic Troubles, Jessie Sweeney's
Love Affair Responsible.

A man and a woman are recovering today, following attempts to end their lives, one due to domestic trouble, and the other to a blighted love affair, according to the police. Joseph Bracco looked the door of his room at his home, 840 Fortieth street, early today, and turned on the gas, following a quarrel with his wife. Members of the family noticed the odor of gas and notified the police. The door was broken down and Bracco taken to the emergency hospital.

Mrs. Jessie Sweeney, 22 years old, attempted to end her life in the same manner in her apartment at 2131 Telegraph avenue, according to a police report. She was taken to the emergency hospital, where her condition is said not to be serious. A note addressed to "Earl" was found in her room by detectives, and reads as follows:

"Dear Earl: Just wire home that Jessie is dead. Earl, go back to the one you love. I'm going to mother, Jessie."

Seven Arrested on Charge of Gambling

Seven men were arrested in a gambling raid, by Corporal W. J. Davis in a poolroom conducted by Daniel E. McKenzie, at 5445 Telegraph avenue. The raid took place last night after the police had received information that a game was being run in the poolroom.

Corporal Davis arrested Victor A. Murray, a brother-in-law of McKenzie, on a charge of gambling. The police say that he was running the crap game. William Grandison and Ed Ferrer were also charged with gambling, and Lester Rose, B. Kerrigan and Peter Cerruti were booked on charges of visiting a gambling house.

Can You Title This Unnamed Cartoon?

Please observe these rules carefully in competing for the title prize. Violation of any of these conditions will disqualify your entry.

Answer must be written on post-cards. No entries in envelopes will be received.

Titles must be written on the long way of the card. That is, from left to right, in the same direction as the address on the opposite side.

Answers must be mailed. No cards will be received in person at The TRIBUNE office. This rule is made necessary in the event of two winning titles coming for the same cartoon, when the prior postmark must be the determining factor.

Titles must be addressed to Title Editor, OAKLAND TRIBUNE.

Titles must not exceed twelve words in length. They must reach The OAKLAND TRIBUNE by Thursday night following the Monday the picture is published.

One person may send in as many titles as he wishes, but only two on one postcard.

Postcards must bear only the title and the name and address and no message whatsoever. A $10 prize will be awarded to the winner each week.

Winners will be announced each Sunday.

Merit System For Students Is Urged

As the result of a deep study of political economy, the student governing board of University High school has issued an announcement that only students who win a certain number of "points" in scholarship and deportment shall be eligible for candidacy.

Charles Arnold and Leonard Keeler have worked out a "point" system where every mark attained by a student is appraised, and no person may fill any office without reaching a certain total.

LEADS WIFE TO TRIBUTE
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12. — With one young woman, Miss Rhoda Hodges, 21, dead and her mother, Mrs. Stella Hodges, seriously ill, police today began a thorough investigation of the mysterious circumstances surrounding the young woman's death. The theory of the police is that they may have been victims of ptomaine poisoning.

In the meantime, their father and husband, Arthur E. Hodges, prominent business man of Boise, Idaho, is hurrying to Los Angeles, unaware of the death of his daughter and his wife's illness, according to a letter received at the Wilshire avenue apartment of Mrs. Hodges yesterday, announcing he would arrive here Tuesday.

Several bruises on the right upper arm and left ankle and an injured place behind the left ear led the police to make an investigation.

That Miss Hodges was a friend of Milton Sills, motion picture actor, was seen when a personally autographed picture of Sills, reading "From Milton to Rhoda," was found in the apartment.

"I am so thankful for the wonderful benefits I received from Tanlac I just want to tell everybody about it," declared Miss Amy Shultz of Glendale, Calif.
"I was in a terribly run-down, nervous condition for a long time. I suffered a complete nervous breakdown. Before I had to give up my work I had been subject to awful headaches. I had to go to bed for two or three days at a time. I was awfully distressed over my wretched health, so nervous I would lie awake nights for hours unable to rest, and losing weight. There was a dreadful pain in my back, my heart palpitated so I was frightened and I had spells when I nearly fell."
"I wrote to a friend and she advised me to try Tanlac. It seemed every bottle I took I got better. Now I have regained much weight, sleep soundly and feel like a different person. Tanlac is simply grand."

C. of C. AID GOES TO FREIGHT MEET
E. W. Hollingsworth, attorney for the Traffic Department of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, left today for Chicago to represent this city at the conference of the Transcontinental Freight Bureau which will take up the proposed modification of transcontinental rates.
G. A. Bahler, head of the Traffic Department of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, said:
"The transcontinental freight rates which were altered during the war have never been readjusted but an effort will be made to effect a change in these rates at the present hearing."
"At the time of the war the Interstate Commerce Commission abolished the Pacific Coast terminals of which Oakland was one, contending that at that time water competition through the canal had ceased."
"The carriers feel that it is necessary to establish some sort of an adjustment of rates which will enable them to obtain a fair share of the transcontinental traffic."

Winners for Defining Of Thrift Are Chosen
P. C. Johnson, 1793 Twenty-fourth avenue, is the winner of the $15 cash prize offered by William C. Cavalier, local stock and bond dealer, for the best definition of thrift submitted in the recent contest conducted by The TRIBUNE. The second prize, of $10, goes to Mrs. Adele Wright, 345 One Hundred and Sixth avenue, and the third prize, of $5, has been won by Olivia Gonzales, 1920 Twenty-fifth avenue.
This was the announcement today of Cavalier, who acted as judge of the entries submitted in the contest. Cavalier also named P. Maher, of the Athenian club, as deserving of honorable mention for the thrift definition which he submitted.
Checks for the amount of the respective prizes will be mailed at once to the winners.
Olivia Gonzales, who has been awarded the third prize of $5 for her definition of thrift, is only 14 years old, and is a pupil in the 3A grade in an Oakland school.
The winning definitions are as follows:
First prize—winning definition, submitted by P. C. Johnson: "Thrift is simply a habit of spending less than you earn—of keeping the income over expenses, and saving the difference. Work hard, earn something, spend less, buy what you need, and save what you want. Work diligently, spend carefully and save wisely for a happy and independent future."
Winner of second prize, submitted by Mrs. Adele Wright: "Thrift is the golden mean between extravagance and miserliness. It implies careful discrimination between things that are essential to physical and mental well-being, and those that merely gratify passing desires. It means managing one's income so as to insure a continual advancement for the individual, the family and the community."
Winner of third prize, submitted by 14-year-old Olivia Gonzales: "Thrift is the opposite of waste. It consists of wise spending. Have a budget in your home to guide and plan out your expenses, and see what you are getting in return. Have a plan or system which guards you from reckless spending and needless desires. Thrift is making every dollar count."
The definition sent in by P. Maher, which won honorable mention, is as follows: "Thrift is the beacon light which safely guides us through the storms of poverty and adversity to the port of happiness and independence."
The thrift contest was conducted in connection with Oakland's share in the nation-wide observance of Thrift Week, which, according to annual custom, opened on the birthday of Benjamin Franklin, one of the world's foremost apostles of thrift.

QUARRY IS USED AS SCOUT CAMP
BERKELEY, Feb. 11.—Utilization of an old quarry situated in El Cerrito Creek in the Thousand Oaks region as a scene of Boy Scout tests in field work has developed the plan to convert the place into a permanent camp. The quarry first came to the attention of Scout leaders when Boy Scouts found there some months ago in an unoccupied condition an aged woman for whom they had been searching the hills. The quarry is situated at the hearwaters of El Cerrito Creek in an attractive sheltered spot in the Berkeley hills.
During the past week 33 Scouts visited and were shown about on the scenic spot.
The following activities occurred during the month:
Troop 16 held a social evening at the home of Percy Shelley, field executive, last Tuesday evening. Frank Cornish, attorney, gave the

Aliens Grab Rich American
Petroleum Supply
Sources.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—While foreign corporations are among the largest of those engaged in exploiting the petroleum resources of the United States, and are now engaged in efforts to extend their holdings in this country, American oil companies are subject to discrimination that virtually prevents any activity on foreign soil, according to a report submitted to the senate by the Federal Trade Commission in response to a resolution calling for information as to foreign ownership in the petroleum industry.

The report made public today describes the organization, development and present status of the Royal Dutch-Shell group of oil companies as to its holdings in the United States, with special reference to its absorption of the Union Oil company of Delaware.

It also touches on the present ownership and control of the Union Oil company of California and discusses discrimination by foreign governments against the citizens of the United States in the production and development of oil lands.

ROYAL DUTCH DEAL.
The Royal Dutch-Shell group, according to the report, is a combination of the Royal Dutch company of London, which in 1921 produced about 11 per cent of the world output.

In February, 1922, it consummated a merger of the principal properties and investments of the Union Oil company, of Delaware, with its principal American subsidiaries.

The consolidated concern was named the Shell Union Oil corporation, and it now controls about 240,000 acres of oil lands in the United States, which produce about 2.5 per cent of the total American output.

ALIENS' CAN AMERICANS.
The most important instances of discrimination by foreign governments against citizens of this country, says the report, "are the exclusive policies of the governments of Great Britain and the Netherlands in respect to the oil fields of India and the Dutch East Indies, and the 1922 San Remo agreement of Great Britain and France covering the undeveloped oil fields of Mesopotamia and of the British and French colonies."

"Denial of reciprocity of treatment to citizens of this country," continues the report, "appears to exist with respect to the petroleum industry of Australia, British Borneo, certain African colonies, British Honduras, British Guiana, and Trinidad; France and French possessions, Italy and the Netherlands and its dependencies."

It is also stated that "the supply of crude petroleum of this country is being rapidly depleted."

Another section of the report asserts that "at present certain British groups, apparently not identified with the Royal Dutch-Shell group, are negotiating for oil-producing properties in the mid-continent oil fields."

Big Salaries of Oil Companies Revealed

Edison Scores

By HARRY S. DENINGER.

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Feb. 12.—

Thomas A. Edison, famous inventor and electrical wizard, in one of his famous birthday interviews, today revealed for the first time that he had supplied the United States navy with forty-five inventions during the World War.

All of which were pigeon-holed.

Edison appeared bitter against the navy authorities.

"I gave them forty-five inventions in the war and they did not utilize any of them," he said.

"This indicates that navy officers resent any interference in their affairs by civilians. They afterward published these inventions in a book."

HOLLYWOOD

DOPE TALES ARE SAID OVERDRAWN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Narcotic conditions in Los Angeles and the movie colony at Hollywood, according to a supplementary report made by Narcotic Chief Harry D. Smith of the Pacific Coast division, have been "magnified" and few of the sensational statements circulated "were based on fact."

Chief Smith has formed the conclusion that "there is a preponderance of evidence tending to show that Los Angeles, and particularly the Hollywood district, is as free from the narcotic evil as could be hoped for, with the limited number of officers and funds available."

Alameda Schools

Remain in Session

ALAMEDA, Feb. 12.—Public schools in Alameda remained in session today, Lincoln's birthday, although a ruling of the Board of Education, Special patriotic exercises were held in all school rooms, and teachers read and outlined short sketches of the life of Lincoln.

Banks, the public libraries and offices in this city hall were closed, and business in the park street district was almost at a standstill.

Lads to Face Trial

As Highway Bandits

MARTINEZ, Feb. 12.—Two or eight boys arrested recently in Berkeley and charged with robbing couples while they spooned along the Alameda Contra Costa border have been brought here to face charges of highway robbery. Both are minors. Four of the boys have been found guilty and have been committed to the state reform school.

aries running into five and six figures are paid by the leading oil companies of the country to their chief officials. It was disclosed today through publication in part of the proceedings of the sub-committee which has been investigating the oil industry.

All of the companies under examination by the sub-committee were required to present a detailed list of all officials and employees paid more than $5000 a year, the committee holding over the protest of some of the companies that if such information be given it is part of the expense of the business that the public has to pay.

The Standard of New Jersey is shown to lead among these companies, with respect to salaries, having six officials who receive $100,000 or more a year, and others who get between $50,000 and $100,000.

SCHOOL FIGURES

OF GOVERNMENT ARE

DECLARED WRONG

Increase Over Two Years Ago

Assessed to Be Only

$2,332,000.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 12.—Declaring himself at a loss to understand why this Governor could have been supplied with such figures, and intimating that "the member of the board of control who prepared the budget may have made a mathematical error," A. R. Haron, deputy state director of education, has given out a statement to the effect that Governor Friend W. Richardson has misstated the amount of increases in the educational budget for the next two years.

Haron's statement follows:

"The budget message Governor Richardson said 'The great sum of $49,788,415 is provided for education.'"

"Later he said, 'This budget shows an increase of $8,613,627, or 23 per cent, in the past two years.'"

"The provisions for education in the budget are the exclusive of departmental revenues collected by the various institutions total $47,450,042. The actual increase in the Richardson budget is therefore $2,332,373 instead of $8,613,627, as stated by Governor Richardson."

"The public must know that this increase cannot take care of the increase in the number of students, which in the past two years has been as follows:

"Kindergartens, 34 per cent.

"Elementary schools, 3 1/2 per cent.

"High schools, 43 per cent.

"Teachers' colleges, 99 per cent."

"I am at a loss to understand how the governor could have been supplied with such figures as he quotes in his budget message. It is possible that the member of the board of control who prepared the budget may have made a mathematical error in arriving at the increase of $8,613,627 instead of $2,332,373."

"I have received two copies of the governor's budget message, one of which states that the fixed charges have increased $11,618,027, and the other of which states that the fixed charges have increased $14,144,477. The smaller figure evidently was a mistake and was corrected in later printings of the budget message. The difference of $6,360,000 on the increase of education was overlooked when the corrections were being made."

American Trade

Injured by Our Great Gold Stock

By JAMES T. KOLBERT.

United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—America has too much gold for its welfare, D. R. Crissinger, controller of the treasury, stated today in his annual report.

Nearly half of the gold supply of the world is in the United States, he said.

"Paradoxical as it may seem, this concentration is as harmful to the United States as the lack of the precious metal is to other countries," he said.

"The total gold supply of the world is estimated at about $9,000,000,000."

"We hold well nigh half of the monetary gold stock of the world and such a disproportionate holding is less fortunate for us than it is for the other countries to have their gold supply so badly depleted."

Economic stability is based on the free movement of gold, he pointed out.

"Just in proportion as gold is liquid," he declared, "free and safe to move about the world in the process of equalizing industrial and financial requirements, so we shall have an approximation to that stability of conditions; that general level of prosperity and industrial activity which is so greatly to be desired."

Possibly.

Does the Eastbay's "Build More Homes" movement come under the head of homely philosophy?

Oakland's first contribution to the world's first picture of the exploits of H. A. Snow of the Oakland Museum of Natural History during his two years amid the jungles of darkest Africa, will bring this city more world-wide publicity than any other element in the picture, according to J. A. Brannan, manager of the presentations of this attraction, who arrived here this morning from New York, where he attended the Atlantic coast premiere of the Oakland picture, which is now in its second month at the Lyric theater, 12nd and Broadway, New York.

Under the supervision of Eugene H. Roth, business manager of the picture, Brannan is completing the arrangements for the local presentation, which is set for next Saturday afternoon at the Lyric theater, where the attraction will begin an engagement of eight days, with performances each matinee and evening. Oakland will see this film just as it is being shown on Broadway, with accompaniment of an orchestral orchestra under the direction of John Hassler Good, interpreting the thematic score which was compiled and arranged by Gino Severi.

PUBLICITY FOR OAKLAND.

"Hunting Big Game in Africa With Gun and Camera" will make Oakland known around the world, says Brannan, who is in the city all those interested had confidence the picture would be a hit in New York, there was always that possibility that a flock of theater-going public would rule otherwise. In its initial showing in San Francisco, the picture was a success, and yet there is one judgment needed to pronounce successful and that is the cold, dispassionate dictum of New York.

A. Brannan, manager of the presentations of this attraction, who arrived here this morning from New York, where he attended the Atlantic coast premiere of the Oakland picture, which is now in its second month at the Lyric theater, 12nd and Broadway, New York."

Under the supervision of Eugene H. Roth, business manager of the picture, Brannan is completing the arrangements for the local presentation, which is set for next Saturday afternoon at the Lyric theater, where the attraction will begin an engagement of eight days, with performances each matinee and evening. Oakland will see this film just as it is being shown on Broadway, with accompaniment of an orchestral orchestra under the direction of John Hassler Good, interpreting the thematic score which was compiled and arranged by Gino Severi.

PUBLICITY FOR OAKLAND.

"Hunting Big Game in Africa With Gun and Camera" will make Oakland known around the world, says Brannan, who is in the city all those interested had confidence the picture would be a hit in New York, there was always that possibility that a flock of theater-going public would rule otherwise. In its initial showing in San Francisco, the picture was a success, and yet there is one judgment needed to pronounce successful and that is the cold, dispassionate dictum of New York.

FILIBUSTERERS BOASTING.

If the Merchant Marine bill is not passed by Congress at this session it will be because a political opposition will have resorted successfully to methods of delay. Opponents to the measure fear there are enough votes in the Senate to carry and are, therefore, centering their efforts on filibustering methods. There has been no hiding of this fact.

It was but a few days ago that Senator Brookhart of Iowa informed the chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee who is handling the bill that he would read the Scriptures when the bill reaches its "final" stages, and there are other senators who have similar tactics in reserve. Such methods may defeat the bill, indeed the open threats that they will be used make it appear the measure has not as much as an even chance for carrying.

In the face of the Brookhart statement, in the face of the politics which are actuating the opponents and of the make-up of the radical group which is standing as the head of the marine bill opposition, President Harding was more than justified in speaking plainly and to the point. The objections of Senator Pat Harrison to the coupling of the marine bill with the debt settlement question in the recent message of President Harding are in line with the policies of obstruction. Senator Harrison is like an alarm clock; he will raise a racket upon any indicated occasion. If one is to find any meaning at all in his speech it is that the President should remain quiet while filibusterers boast they are going to kill the Merchant Marine bill.

SAVING NATURE'S WONDERS.

A Continental poet has said that "a fair woman, a glorious mountain, and a great tree, are Creation's three wonders."

Among the two thousand bills and resolutions introduced in the State legislature are some dealing with a subject that is dear to the heart of Californians, whether they hail from the northern, the central or the southern parts of the State. These measures concern the preservation of the redwood forests in Humboldt, Del Norte and other counties of the border region, and would save the trees that "were saplings when the three wooden crosses were planted on Golgotha," from the fate which has overtaken the American bison, the ancient English oak, and the other wonders of the world's flora and fauna, that have been partly or entirely exterminated by the ruthless hand of man.

Some of the measures ask for direct State action, and some are in the nature of resolutions addressed to the Federal government. Dr. J. H. Thompson, the naturalist from Crescent City, has been especially active in advocating the cause of the redwoods. Dr. Thompson believes, and his viewpoint is shared by many, that the State of California can do something, but that the creation of a really worth while "national park of redwoods" in Del Norte county belongs in the Federal domain. This point of view is based on the fact that approximately seventy-four per cent of all the land in Del Norte is owned by the Federal government. As to State action, the suggestion is made that a certain acreage of redwoods shall be purchased and reserved on both sides of the great highway, that runs from Sausalito to Portland.

But interest in California's forest giants is by no means limited to the people of this State. Foremost among those who favor the preservation of certain stretches of our virgin forest, are famous men of affairs, publicists, and others of a nationwide repute. These men have formed a "Save the Redwoods Association," and it is hoped their intervention at the national level will bear fruit.

humanity. It is clear that there is room here for some very important legislation that will be of benefit to generations to come.

"After us the Deluge" is an axiom that has no place in this very vital matter!

A. D. 1923 AND THE "EVIL EYE."

Once again have the middle ages projected themselves into this age of telephones and flippers, and once more has superstition demanded a sacrifice of human blood. According to despatches from Russia, Serge Semenov, famous author and friend of Tolstoi, has been killed because the monks in the small village where he lived, believed him to be a sorcerer, a possessor of the "evil eye." It appears that things had gone from bad to worse in the village since the author took up his residence there. The great drought came, and the crops failed, but Semenov kept on writing books. The monks could not understand a man who took no heed of material needs, so they distrusted him. His manuscripts were regarded like so many sorcerer's wands, and when he was killed—shot from ambush—one of his manuscripts was clenched in his stiffened hands.

Nothing new in all this—a mere proof that Napoleon was right when he said: "Scratch the Russian surface, and you find the Tartar." This pitiful affair, this murder of a man living centuries in advance of his benighted countrymen, goes to show just how and why Rasputin, the evil monk, was able to obtain an ascendancy over the highest circles of the land, such as would not have been tolerated for a moment in any country where the people are able to read and write. It also shows that the great masses of the Russian people are today still where they stood when Peter the Great drove them, whip in hand, to build a new capital on the Neva. And it goes still further—since it explains why a handful of men, masters of the fortress at Kronstadt, of the grim prison of Peter and Paul, and of the Moscow Kremlin, have obtained the implicit obedience and control over the one hundred and sixty millions that constitute Russia's population.

Still, it would be hardly fair to proclaim Russia the only superstition-ridden nation of the earth. Superstition seems ingrained in human nature to a greater and lesser extent. Where is the man who likes to cross a cemetery at midnight? Where the sailor who would set sail on Friday the thirteenth, whilst a black cat is seen to disappear down the forecastle? Who has never "touched wood"? And the last witches, it is feared, have not yet been burned, or ducked, or whipped, in many a civilized land!

It is notable that 227 Republicans, 63 Democrats and one Socialist voted in favor of the agreement for the British debt settlement. But one Republican voted against it, and only 43 Democrats. It will be seen, therefore, the determination was decisive. The general public may not understand what the agreement is, but will be glad to see that the House has arrived, somewhere on some matter with such definiteness. It has not been a frequent occurrence of late that either branch of Congress has come to such a decisive conclusion in a matter of such considerable importance. For the settlement of the British debt on entirely amicable terms is of importance. It does away with any chance of national estrangement, which would have been a possibility as long as the question was unsettled; for nothing is more prolific of trouble than a dispute over money, as we see almost every day in a small way. Besides eliminating a chance for chronic soreness it will tend to knit the two responsible countries of the earth closer together.

What would be quite desirable is consistency in the news about the Turks and the Turkish imbroglio. One day we have it that it is all settled, that the Turks have agreed to the demands of the allies—will submit to what is required in the interest of peace and humanity; and the next it is told that the Turks have delivered an ultimatum that the allies must "clear out" of Smyrna. The interested by-standers note from one despatch the idea that the Turk has curled up and is going to be as good as he knows how, and from the next that he is still "unspeakable," and that the situation continues to be grave. There would be a set disposition to regard the situation as ticklish if there were not alternate assurances that it was all fixed. There is so much going in other directions to upset the world's equilibrium that it would be an advantage to be assured exactly what the situation is with the Turks.

George Henry Edward Ulick Lascelles is not a week old and therefore cannot be expected to worry because when he grows up it will not be permitted that men call him "royal highness." As the son of a princess he can be called "prince" and even "highness" but because of his father's oversight in being born a commoner there is to be a perpetual ban on the "royal" part of the child's title. For some time, it is probable, he will be just as well satisfied with a rattle.

Oakland motorists should get their new licenses through the Oakland branch office. The branch office here is a convenience to a large number of automobilists but so long as all of the car users do not take advantage of its facilities there will be a danger of the city's losing the service.

Many of those who are paid by the month will be glad to give all possible support to Mr. Moses B. Cotsworth, who is advocating a revision of the calendar so as to crowd thirteen months into the year. And there are others who ought to be enthusiastic advocates of the idea.

Think of the purposes we might put an extra month to! Every man, woman and child should be permitted to use the first twelve months of the revised year going just what he or she has always done for twelve months a year. And then the old month would be left for the things each of us has been meaning and hoping to do all these years.

For instance, we might clean our desk in that month. And write a play that has been bothering us for several years. And answer some of our correspondence. And read hundreds and hundreds of books which have been sent us by trusting publishers.

But Mr. Cotsworth provides for thirteen months of twenty-eight days each and that leaves one day over; even so. . . . On that day let us reopen the saloons for just twenty-four hours. No further plans for the disposition of the time need be made.

INCOME TAX FACTS.

No. 2.

In the returns of married persons many errors have been discovered because of the failure to account for the aggregate net income of husband, wife and dependent children. For example, John Smith, an artist, has a net income for 1932 of $2100. His wife earned $1400 as a stenographer, and two sons, 15 and 17 years, earned $700 each as messengers. The exemption is $2500, the family income being less than $500, plus a $400 credit for each dependent son, a total of $3300. Deducted from $3400, the combined family income, leaves a taxable net income of $1840, which, however, may be further reduced by deductions of payments of interest, taxes, etc., to be fully explained later.

Separate returns may be made by husband and wife, or they may make a combined return. In the event separate returns are made, either husband or wife may claim the exemption allowed married persons, or they may divide it between them in such proportion as they choose. The one contributing the chief support may claim the $400 for each dependent.

The $400 credit for dependents is allowed only when such person is under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mental or physically defective. In the above examples the sons are dependents because both are under 18 years of age. They have not been "emancipated" and their parents have not abandoned their right to the son's earnings, which, therefore, must be included in the parents' return.

THE GUN, SMOKE.

Under the classification of the underwriters, one general cause of fires is "matches-smoking," which is held responsible for nearly $26,000,000 losses in 1931, as against an average of about $20,000,000 for six years. The National Board of Fire Underwriters asks solemnly: "Can the more general use of tobacco by women during the past few years be the reason for the startling advance in the fire losses from the twin-hazard of matches-smoking?"

Possibly. We have no way of determining whether women are more careless than men about throwing down a burning match or a burning cigarette. That more women than men discard cigarettes while those are still burning is a matter of common knowledge. But some investigators insist that the cigarette has been unjustly blamed as a cause of fire losses, and that the cigar, stump with more of fire in it is the more dangerous.

Considering everything, however, we are inclined to regard the gentler sex as the more cautious one in all its relations to tobacco smoking. . . .

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Boston Transcript: "The average mechanical and anti-aesthetic sentiment of our practical age will probably agree that Professor Clarence E. Ayres of Amherst 'said a mouthful' when he expressed the official opinion the other day that 'art is all bunk,' and that 'a good Stillson wrench is as much to be praised as a good picture.' Yet the practical mind, though inclined to put the Stillson wrench above Mona Lisa or Raphael's Madonnas in importance, must wonder why the masterpieces of Leonardo or El Greco bring a higher price in the market than a Stillson wrench."

New York Sun: "Baseball, formerly almost unknown beyond the borders of the United States, is rapidly becoming a world game. C. C. Kelly, an American missionary, writes from Tunis that the Arabs of North Africa are playing baseball and are making rapid progress with it. He says he will eventually have a league of Arabs, French, Italian, Maltese and Jewish teams."

New York Times: "Russian villages are sending up a cry for cats. During the recent famine all the local cats, or at any rate all that could be caught, were eaten. As the one of the late Frank Bacon's character used to say, 'Somehow it seemed best at the time'; but the consequences were disastrous. This year multitudes of mice, formerly kept down by the pussies, are eating up the grain. Ten million rubles is offered for a cat, five million for a young kitten."

ABE LINCOLN.
Bill and Jim drove into town on a pleasant summer day. Puffed their pipes and talked of things in a friendly sort of way.

Talked of crops and politics, neighbors and the price of nails. Then, as they were jogging on, passed a fellow splitting rails.

"Who's that yonder, Bill?" says Jim. "I don't seem to know his face."

"That's Abe Lincoln," answered Bill. "Got a shabby sort of place."

Lawsuit going on one day, Bill and Jim had time to spare. Dropped into the court awhile. Found most all their neighbors there.

"Moonlight night," one witness said, prisoner's chances mighty small.

Till his lawyer rose and proved there wasn't any moon at all.

"Who's defending him?" says Jim. "Rather clever, I should say."

"That's Abe Lincoln," answered Bill. "Shall we go, or hear some more?"

Moral of it isn't much. Greatness may be round about. But when seen from day to day they are slow to find it out.

Those who heard him plead a case, Passed him by with little thought, laughing at his homely face.

Those who neighbored with the boy, those who saw his summer tan, Those who lived in Lincoln's time, never really knew the man.

FAILED FOR $13,000,000.
A man of Wall street, who, twenty odd years ago, failed for $13,000,000, and four years later paid every cent of his personal obligation in that failure, had all his employees as his guests at Rudolph Christmas eve.

The luncheon was given in a very old building in Water street, near Wall, over the headquarters of a large mercantile concern and now a delightfully quaint restaurant.

It was in that old building that the man of Wall street had his first employment and earned his first dollar. His job was pasting labels on tobacco sacks—sacks that contained the smoking tobacco now widely known as Bull Durham.

The man who gave the luncheon was the man of Wall street.

PERSONAL SERVICE

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

MUSTARD.
Mustard in the medicine cupboard serves three purposes. A tablespoonful of mustard flour given in a glass half full of lukewarm water is a fairly dependable emetic if nothing better is at hand in an emergency. But the mustard paste often administered on "hot dog" and other delicacies is weaker. It bites and burns the stomach and excites a sufficiently artificial appetite; then it is worked by the suffering stomach, much as one would keep a hot potato moving in one's hands, and the mustard is finally hastened on into the intestine, which is even less capable of enduring insult.

Yet mustard is fed to children in school cafeterias controlled by dietitians and like experts. The food served there is often "poor picking," if indeed any is left after the teachers have been fed, but the children are welcome to all the mustard they can eat; they can eat much when there is nothing good to fill the void. To serve mustard with food is a very frank confession or admission that the food is inferior or badly cooked.

Mustard should be applied to the chest, not to the stomach. It stays on the chest better. Yet it shouldn't be kept on the chest a minute longer than is necessary for it to do its work. When we apply mustard to a patient's chest we do not mean to punish him for being sick, but merely to distract his mind from the symptoms. Nothing is worse than symptoms for an invalid to dwell upon, not even a mustard paste. I have known patients who were all but inarticulate over their symptoms. All they could say was, "It seems to have settled in my chest," yet they waxed eloquent when a well built mustard paste began working over the place where it had settled.

One caution I must emphasize here is that eggs are high and there is no excuse for using egg white in the construction of mustard paste, despite the assurances of Mrs. Camp about the egg preventing blistering. It doesn't. Nothing will prevent blistering by a good mustard paste except watchfulness and instant removal of the paste when the skin under it reddens. Half mustard and half wheat flour make a strong mixture; for tender skins one-fourth mustard and three-fourths flour would be better. Mix it with enough tepid or cool water to make a paste. Spread upon a piece of muslin, backed with a piece of brown paper, the muslin folded over the edges of the paper and basted. The finished article should be warmed comfortably and slapped on the nurse taking a peep every fifteen minutes or less and extricating the patient from the plaster just before the second commandment gives way. No one with a mustard paste on his chest or a trace of humanity would put mustard on a child's chest.

Mustard burns are peculiarly slow to heal. In some cases a mustard blister is followed by a malignant overgrowth of scar tissue, known as keloid. But even if the burn does heal eventually without permanent ill consequence there is no excuse for inflicting such an injury.

Probably no other external application could serve the purpose so well as a mustard paste properly made and intelligently used on the chest unless it be camphorated oil (camphor liniment), for children. (A little more mustard tomorrow.)

EASTBAY PEOPLE PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO LINCOLN

PATRIOTISM SEEN IN LIFE OF LINCOLN

Flags Raised Throughout the District and Services Are Held to Commemorate the Deeds of the Emancipator

Today the Eastbay district celebrated the 114th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, sixteenth president of the United States. Early this morning flags were raised throughout the city and patriotic services were held during the day. At the public schools the children, released from classes, gathered to commemorate the birthday of the great emancipator with literary and musical exercises.

In song, story and recitation the school children recounted the deeds of the man who started life under humble and adverse circumstances, who gained his education under difficulties of a seeming insurmountable nature and who became the nation's president.

Lincoln's memorable and laconic address at Gettysburg was recited at many of the schools and prominent citizens attended the gatherings for the purpose of relating incidents in the simple life of the great liberator.

G. A. R. PAYS HOMAGE. Especially significant was the informal ceremony held by the members of the Grand Army of the Republic many of whom knew Lincoln during the Civil War days. Anecdotes and homage were the order of the day at the headquarters in the city hall.

The celebration of the birthday started yesterday when clergy members took Lincoln as their subject for the Sunday sermons. In many local churches the sermons were devoted exclusively to the dead president and his life was held up as a model for the present generation.

Special Lincoln Day ceremonies were held at the Oakland Museum, where a special exhibit was prepared. Among the treasures was a bill of sale signed by Lincoln as proof of the delivery to S. H. Melvin, later a resident of Oakland, of household goods. The sale was made when Lincoln was preparing to move to Washington.

TELL OFFICIAL EVENTS. In addition several newspapers were on exhibition. They were copies of papers telling of the official events during Lincoln's term as president. The exhibit also included a collection of badges, private letters and a bust of Lincoln presented to Oakland by the widow of Major Sherman, to whom the president gave it.

Eastbay residents born in Illinois, Lincoln's home state, held their celebration in St. George's hall, where a literary and musical program was presented. Adorning the wall above the speakers' platform was an oil painting of Lincoln made from the original engraving at the National Gallery at Washington by William Edgar Marshall. It was loaned by Mrs. F. L. Harrison, a Berkeley artist.

The program included a brief address on Lincoln by Charles A. Combe; a soprano solo by Mrs. Lapman; flag dance by Phyllis Ford; piano and harp duo by Mrs. Joachim and Charles Hall; military and Spanish dances by Olive Cornell, Bernice Miranda and Phyllis Ford; and a specialty number by Little Louise Hollingsworth.

Tomorrow evening the Sons and Daughters of Washington will hold a joint celebration of the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln at the Auditorium arena.

PRINCESS WILL ATTEND. Royally will be represented at the ball in the person of Princess Obolenskaya, who will appear in her native costume of Russia. She has been in the United States since November, after many experiences since the revolt in her own country. For three years she fought against the Bolsheviks as a Cossack, being twice wounded. She spent several months in an American hospital in Turkey, and then accompanied an American family to Constantinople.

The Sons and Daughters of Washington has as its purpose promotion of greater Americanism through community fellowship with those of foreign birth, according to Felix Schreiber, the director.

Among the features planned for the entertainment and ball is a 20-piece orchestra and an exhibition of fox-trot by Nellie Cody and Rollin Drueck. It is announced.

WILL TAKE PART. Among the members of the organization who are particularly active for the Grand Community ball are the following: Misses Clarence August, Erma Biggs, Tillie

In Honor of Two Presidents

Left to right, the Misses MARY CONNAUGHTON and NELLIE CODY, two representative American girls, and PRINCESS MARINA OBOLENSKAYA YURLOFF of Russia; who will join in honoring Washington and Lincoln at the Auditorium tomorrow night. The occasion is the community entertainment and ball given under the auspices of the Sons and Daughters of Washington.

Musicians Plan to Form Great Oakland Orchestra

An Oakland community orchestra is now being organized by Glenn Woods, director of music for the Oakland school department.

The organization is the outgrowth of an effort of several years ago, when a few players of adult age in one of the night schools banded together with five violins, a drum, a cornet and a piano. It has now assumed almost symphonic proportions and numbers 80 players.

Woods asserts that in Oakland there are 157 men and women of high musical ability who are "doing nothing but it except home entertainment." He has been interviewing some of these citizens with the intention that they give some of their time toward encouraging the musical talent of younger students.

"The Symphony Orchestra of San Francisco ought to be supported in Oakland," said Woods. "There should be no rivalry in the formation of another symphony group, but the community orchestra should organize independently in Oakland and furnish the type of music that is most appreciated by the citizens generally and gives the greatest returns in pleasure and profit to the performers."

Such an organization properly managed could give an average of three yearly concerts to a monthly performance at the Municipal Auditorium that would put Oakland on the map musically. The director, as at present, could be placed with the school department.

CHIEFS ARE ELECTED AT CLUB RALLY

Mrs. L. E. Leonard, Rockridge Chosen President of Alameda Co. Federation of Women; Other Officers

By EDNA B. KINARD.
Mrs. L. E. Leonard of the Rockridge club of Oakland was today chosen president of the Alameda County Federation of Women's clubs at the federation's third annual convention, which was held in San Leandro. Other officers elected were: Mrs. F. E. Adams, Oakland club, first vice-president; Mrs. F. L. Helmond, Lakeview club, second vice-president; Mrs. F. Z. Jones, Washington township, treasurer.

Discrimination against women in political office in Alameda county was discussed at the morning session when a petition for the candidacy of Miss Dora Cooley as official county reporter was introduced. A letter was ordered sent to the superior judges of Alameda county urging that a qualified woman be considered for appointment to office on the same basis as a man.

Mrs. F. L. Helmond was elected delegate to the citizens' committee to serve in connection with the proposed school bonds for Oakland.

That Governor Richardson's budget for the state forestry department is of sufficient importance to the citizens of California to bring forth protests was declared in a communication from former Governor George C. Pardee. His communication was endorsed in full by the county federation.

"Women in Industry" was reviewed this afternoon by Mrs. L. A. Beebe of Los Angeles, chairman of the department on social and industrial relations for the California Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Beebe is en route to her home in southern California from an important conference held last month in Washington at the call of Secretary of Labor J. F. Davis. Mrs. Beebe reported the findings of the important meeting.

Plans for Music Week in Alameda county scheduled for the last week in April were presented by Glenn Woods, director of music in the Oakland public schools.

"The Menace of Narcotics" was the subject for the closing address of the afternoon. Ernest J. Hopkins of Berkeley was the speaker.

The annual message of Mrs. George Allen Rigg, president of Alameda district, C. F. W. C., of which the Alameda County Federation is a part, was delivered at the morning session.

Alameda club women were hostesses at luncheon during the noon recess.

Christensen followed the couple. According to Christensen, the woman had walked only a short distance when the man overtook her and grabbed her by the throat.

Christensen and Policeman D. C. Campbell, who was coming from the opposite direction, ran to the woman's assistance.

While the two policemen were questioning Davis, the young woman continued on her way. The officers charged Davis with assault. He is booked on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Coast Swept By Storm, Gale In Bay Region

More Rain Predicted by the Weather Man; Heavy Snow in Seattle.

"Occasional rain, and westerly winds" are the forecast for tonight and Tuesday, by the United States Weather Bureau, in the bay region.

Heavy winds howled through the night in the entire San Francisco bay region, bringing in their train a downpour of varying intensity. The storm assumed such proportions that at 7:45 this morning the United States Weather Bureau ordered northwest storm warnings from Point Reyes to Eureka. Considerable damage is reported to telegraph and telephone lines, and numerous breakdowns are reported.

One of the heaviest falls of snow of the season is reported along the Pacific coast. In the Pacific northwest, according to reports to the Weather Bureau, from four to eight inches of snow fell throughout Washington. Oregon had snow furries on the coast, and a regular snowfall in the eastern section.

The California mountain regions reported heavy falls.

The following report was made this morning by Chabot Observatory for Oakland and vicinity:

Rainfall for 24 hours, up to 7 a. m., .47.

Season rainfall to date, 13.25.

Normal rainfall to date, 15.70.

Last year's rainfall to date, 14.64.

Maximum - minimum temperatures, 47-41.

Reports from Colfax are to the effect that exceptionally heavy snow caused a break in the eastern trunk wires there. Telephone operators have a large force of linemen at work repairing the break.

Yesterday's snowfall at Grass Valley was eight inches. The Santa Cruz mountains and other ridges of the coast range were white capped.

NEPTUNES HOLD VAMPS TO TIE; SONS OF ST. GEORGE LOSE

EASTBAY BASKETBALL LEAGUE WILL START FIFTH WEEK TONIGHT WITH A FULL PROGRAM

Three Games On Schedule This Evening

Eastbay League Starting Fifth Week of Play; Thursday Is Big Night.

GAMES TONIGHT.
At St. Mary's—Chabot A. C. (130) vs. Alhert A. C. (130), 7:00.
Oakland "Y" (145) vs. Motors (145), 8:00. Standard Oil (unlimited) vs. Richmond (unlimited), 8:00.

The fifth week of play in the Eastbay Basketball League finds the leadership of nearly every division in dispute. The Soci Omnes have their flag of the first unlimited division practically won, with only one team having a chance to pull them down. In nearly every other race the outcome is in doubt and several championships will be settled next Thursday night at the Auditorium in the first big basketball bill of the year to be held under the auspices of the Oakland Recreation Department. Jay B. Nash working in cooperation with the officials of the Eastbay league to put over this evening.

FEATURE GAMES.
At that time there will be four big attractions with teams of four divisions of the local league furnishing the competition.
The Company C team of the 11th Infantry, which has not played a game to date, will open their schedule against the Hayward Natives, who are tied with the Lincoln club and the Oakland "Y" for the leadership of the second unlimited division.
The Soci Omnes and Oakland "Y" faces the first unlimited race will meet in another feature battle. A victory for the Soci Omnes will give them the championship while a defeat would make a three-way tie of the race between the Soci Omnes, Oakland "Y" and Standard Oil. The Standard Oil beat the "Y" and the Soci's beat the Standard team, so the chances of the "Y" appear none too bright.

In the 145 pound division the Plymouth Athletic club and All Corners remain undefeated after four weeks of play, each team playing two games per week. They are to meet Thursday night at the Auditorium and the winner of that game will have the championship as good as won.

In the 150 pound division a similar condition exists. The All Corners and Lincoln Arrows are undefeated to date and are booked to meet Thursday night to settle their differences.

CHAMPIONSHIP TITLE.
The Lincoln Arrow 130 pound team and the All Corners 120 pound team meet tomorrow night at the Armory to settle the championship of the lightweight division.

The games tonight bring together the Standard Oil and Richmond clubs in the first unlimited division at St. Mary's in the main event at 9 p. m. In the preliminary games the Chabot Athletic club and Alhert Athletic club 130 pound teams meet at 7 o'clock, and the Oakland "Y" and Motors of the 145 pound division clash at 8 o'clock.

Tomorrow night five games are booked. At Oakland high the Y. M.-I. and Century Athletic club 130 pound teams wind up their season with a game of consolation to win the title. The Western Electric and First Congregational church five meet in the 145 pound division at Tech in the second game at 8:30.

At the Oakland "Y" the fifth Rites and Trojans of the first unlimited division meet at 8:30 and at the Armory the Lincoln Arrows-All Corners 120 pound teams mix. At Tech the Colored "Y" and Shude Pool Parlor will entertain the fans.

BOWLING.
Swinging into the home stretch of the Alameda County N. S. G. W. Bowling league with only three weeks of play remaining two of the strongest teams of the league remain tied for first place. From now on it promises to be a nip and tuck.

Palo Montomery of Oakland No. 1 promises to give the Piedmont team plenty of competition and says that for Oakland No. 1 to lose out it will be necessary for Piedmont No. 2 to sweep the "Lords" for the straight game.

Oakland plays a hard series tonight at Zing's Alameda alley against Dine Peterson and his Alameda wrecking crew, who were trounced last Monday by the Oakland No. 2 squad.

Piedmont No. 2 takes things easy at the Maryland tonight in meeting Halcyon, a team which figures to drop three to the Whetstone-Basso-McCaw crowd.

Piedmont No. 1, only one game behind the leaders, will spend a pleasant evening entertaining Roy Dineback's Brooklyn quintet at the Bowling Center alleys. Brooklyn figures to edge into the lead for at least one game.

At the same time the Fruitvale and Oakland No. 2 teams will mix it up at the Bowling Center. Fruitvale has an edge, both in natural ability and in the percentage column, and Leddicke's team figures to take the Oakland place as they have the past two weeks things have not gone so well for the Fruitvale quintet.

Athens and Claremont will be at the Auditorium alleys and the team that loses tonight bids good night to the basement to the end of the season.

TWO STARS OF CALIFORNIA TENNIS VARSITY

Phil Bettens, who played on the U.C. Freshman tennis team last year, and who is one of the best known of the younger tennis stars of the Bay region, bids fair to press Wallace Bates for the number one position on the U.C. Varsity squad before the present season is over.

Carol Jensen, who is rapidly coming to the fore as a tennis star on the University of California tennis team, will make a strong bid for a place among the three Bruin stars who are to be sent East during the coming summer. Jensen is improving steadily in his net game. Jensen has stiff competition on his hands against Captain Wally Bates. Phil Bettens, Irving Weinstein, "Brick" Conard and others of the Bruin squad.

Many Entries In Golf Event At Berkeley

Good Scores Made Over 36 Holes in the Opening Day's Play.

By W. D. MCGILL.
Over 80 entries have been received for the 72-hole medal contest now in progress at Berkeley. The first 18 holes were played Saturday, when E. F. Morris led the field with a well-played 86-14-22. V. H. Wilson, who had an 80 on Saturday, went one stroke better yesterday and gained two strokes lead over E. F. Morris for the low gross total at the end of the 36 holes. V. H. Wilson cut his Saturday score by no less than 8 strokes. This puts him in third place with 184. Prizes for the leaders at each 18 holes helps to stimulate the players during the entire game.

Today the concluding 36 holes will be played and W. J. Bell, the official handicapper, will be in his element analyzing the various cards in his possession. A handicapper who has access to members' score cards has a much better knowledge of a player's ability than even the compiler of the scores. Conditions for play at Berkeley yesterday were satisfactory, although light showers fell during the progress of the game. A strong wind helped to test the ability of the players to keep a straight line to the pin. The Berkeley club is to be congratulated on the success of this tournament, for a new club just entering on its second year, securing an entry of 80 in a February event.

Here are a few of the best scores:
Dr. H. A. Curtis 88-117
E. F. Morris 86-14-22
V. H. Wilson 80-14-22
W. B. Morris 83-14-22
A. V. Thompson 85-14-22
A. E. Johnson 83-14-22
Dr. B. A. Kruse 82-14-22
W. J. Bell 82-14-22
Low scores yesterday:

Chick Evans And Gardner Not to Tour

Leading American Golfers Will Not Visit England This Summer.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Robert A. Gardner and Chick Evans of Chicago, the only two eligible American golfers who have won the American national amateur championship twice, will not go to Great Britain this summer with the American invaders to defend the Walker cup, according to expressions made by them yesterday. Gardner's decision is taken to be final, but it is thought possible that Evans might change his mind if conditions permit.

Gardner finished runner-up in a 37-hole match for the British title of 1929. Evans, who has been less fortunate in his invasion of England, having run into an unbeatable 52 on his nine during the first expedition when he was playing well, and being off his game on the succeeding attempt.

Their decision leaves R. E. Knepper of Iowa, Pinehurst student, and Harrison Johnston of St. Paul, as the most promising westerners, who may go, aside from Dave Herron of Chicago, formerly national champion, in case Herron gets back into the stride that carried him to victory over Bobby Jones at Pittsburg three years ago.

BASKETBALL

KELLY'S END SEASON.
The Kelly Springfield 120 pound basketball team finished its season in the Eastbay league, breaking even for the year when they lost to the All Corners by a score of 45 to 15. The All Corners are now tied with the Lincoln Arrows for the lead and the two teams meet tomorrow night in the game to settle the championship at the Armory at 7:30.

Hansen at forward was the star for the All Corners against the Kelly Springfield team, shooting 11 field goals to score 22 points, more than enough to defeat them single handed. Hansen also was a star for the Corners.

The lineup:
Kelly
All Corners (45) Springfield (15)
Position.
Ferreira (11) Forward...Dewar (7)
Hansen (23) Forward...Cornell
Hodge (8) Center...Muth (8)
Roulier (5) Guard...Gillen (2)
Fields (6) Guard...Stubbsfield

ALL CORNERS LEAD.
The All Corners moved into the lead in the 120 pound division of the Eastbay Basketball league Saturday night when they defeated the Alhert Athletic club by a score of 48 to 24, their fourth straight victory.

Lincoln Arrows next Thursday night at the Auditorium in the game that will settle the championship.

Sibbette and Gebhardt were the stars for the All Corners at Tech against the Alhert team.

Marion Hollins Is Pebble Beach Golf Champion

DEL MONTE, Feb. 12.—Miss Marion Hollins of New York, national women's golf champion in 1921, yesterday defeated Miss Doreen Kavanaugh, Los Angeles, California title holder, 6 and 5 in the finals of the Pebble Beach women's championship here yesterday.

Miss Hollins played remarkable golf, going out in 41 and establishing a lead of 4 up. Miss Kavanaugh was on top of her game but could not follow the fast pace set by her opponent.

Joie Ray Is Going After More Records
NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(By the Associated Press).—Having achieved the distinction of being recognized as the greatest distance runner ever, Joie Ray, of the Buffalo, N. Y., team, is going to attempt to break the world record in the 100-yard dash.

Ray, who has been reported as denying, though not emphatically, that this is his last season, after his unparalleled performance at the White Athletic club, sports followers are ready to believe that Joie would prefer to close his record in a burst of glory.

SHOWCHILLA, Feb. 12.—The local high school basketball team went down to defeat here before the Merced high school team by a score of 11 to 3. Showchilla led at the end of the first half, 4 to 0, but the visitors solved the defense of the locals in the last half, and rushed over the winning baskets.

Helen Wills Is Defeated In Exhibition

Berkeley Girl Tennis Star Loses to Miss Eleanor Goss.

Miss Helen Wills, young Berkeley girl, tennis sensation, who was the talk of the last last summer when she made such excellent showings on the court against older and more experienced women tennis players from all parts of the country, was defeated yesterday by Miss Eleanor Goss, 7-5, 4-6, 5-3.

Miss Goss is practically an unknown in local tennis circles and prior to her match against the national junior champion at the Burlingame Country Club had not been considered as a chance to defeat the champion.

HELEN OFF FORM.
The showing of Miss Wills yesterday was sufficient to prove to her friends that she was playing far from the form that distinguished her work last summer. Since her return from the east she had given up the courts almost entirely to pay strict attention to her studies at school and as a result she was unable to get her service going yesterday.

The work of Miss Goss outclassed Miss Wills in nearly every department of the game. In the second set Miss Wills made a slight rally to win and even the match, but that was her only return to form of the day.

In addition to the Goss-Wills contest, Berkeley tennis fans were treated to play in the second and third rounds of the men's singles tournament. In the second round play James Davies of Stanford University defeated Ray Casey, Olympic club and former University of California star, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5.

LEVINSON WINNER.
Third round play found Homer Levinson a winner over Peck Griffin after three hard-fought sets by scores of 7-5, 4-6, 6-3.

Robert Kinsey encountered a tough opponent in meeting Phil Neer, former Stanfordite, winning only after Neer had taken the first set 6-1. The other sets went to Kinsey, 6-4, 6-3.

Howard Kinsey disposed of William Davis by scores of 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

In the semi-final round the surprise of the tournament took place when Homer Levinson eliminated Robert Kinsey in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3.

One match of the men's doubles was played, Casey and Davis defeating Bill Johnston and Peck Griffin 6-3, 1-6 and 6-2.

DEL MONTE, Feb. 12.—In the final round of play in the Automobile golf tournament held here over the week end George Erlin defeated Harry Harrison 4 and 3 on the links of the Pebble Beach golf course yesterday.

Erlin, whose play in the finals in the tournament has been unusually steady, played an unusually brilliant game to beat Harrison, winning the match by a sensational 4 and 3.

Howard Kinsey disposed of William Davis by scores of 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Long Shot Is Winner at Cuban Merry-go-round

HAVANA, Feb. 12.—The selling plater Lieutenant William J. May, by winning the first race at the Cuban Merry-go-round yesterday, paid his backers $695.50 for each $2 Pari-mutuel ticket held by them. His present owner, and his former, who gave the gelding away a short time ago, each held tickets on Murray for $2 across the board.

The odds against the horse constituted a new Cuban record.

Julius Young Tournament at Sequoyah Club

J. S. Millar Turns in the Best Score, Using Imported Golf Clubs.

The Washington's Birthday shield, a trophy presented by one of the enthusiastic members of the club, will represent the season at Sequoyah. Only 52 players can qualify for subsequent match play in the tournament.

The winner will have his name inscribed on the shield and receive a trophy to carry home as visible evidence of his skill.

J. R. Millar, who recently returned from Europe where he visited the club, represented the season at Sequoyah. Only 52 players can qualify for subsequent match play in the tournament.

Sons Lose, 3-2; Neptunes Draw With Thistles

Eastbay Soccer Teams Give Transbay Eleven's Good Play in Ties.

The Alameda Neptunes were held to a 1 to 1 tie by the Vampires of the San Francisco Football League yesterday in the first game of the day at Memorial field, while the Thistles, another transbay eleven, defeated the Sons of St. George in the final contest by a score of 3 to 2.

In the curtain-raiser the Vamps started with a rush and carried the play well into Neptune territory, where Leffard netted the first goal. Several fouls were awarded both sides, but neither was able to score from the free shots that followed.

Dinkus equalled the count for the Nepe after about 15 minutes of play. Jenkins netted one for the Vamps immediately following, but the goal kicked by the Nepe shortly after was not allowed on account of offside play. The Vamps led 2 to 1 at half time.

Arnold scored the goal that evened the count for the Nepe in the second half and Rose followed with another shot after to put the local team in the lead. Leffard netted a penalty kick for the Vamps that evened the count. The Nepe and Vamps will be hooked for a playoff in the near future.

In the second game of the day play started with a rush and both teams battled on even terms throughout. Hyndman netted a goal for the Sons which was not allowed on account of offside in the second period as count again. A penalty kick following it, Washauer kicked a penalty shot for the Sonnets to give them a lead of 1 to 0 for the first half.

E. Spurgeon evened the count in the second period as count again. A penalty kick following it, Washauer kicked a penalty shot for the Sonnets to give them a lead of 1 to 0 for the first half.

The line-ups:
Neptunes—Moore, La. Cross, Critchlow, Kellan, Inguit, Dorkes, Nicholson, Arnold, Rose, Dinkus and Souza.

Thistles—Willis, Marlowe, Moore, Fraser, Findlayson, Hamblin, Roberts, Warshur, Murray, Stubbs, Willis.

Sons of St. George—Batter, Robertson, Gray, Thompson, Plumtree, Mea, Butler, Phipps, Livingston, Hyndman, Spurgeon.

Rangers Battle Barbs to a Tie
The Rangers of the Bay Cities league played a 3 to 3 tie with the Barbarians of the San Francisco Football league yesterday afternoon at War's Athletic field. The Rangers scored all three of their goals in the first half. Blunt scored the first and the goal of the Miller brothers.

In the second half Hudson, L. Cubbin and Robertson tied the score. The Rangers scored the first goal in the second half. The Rangers scored the first goal in the second half.

Benefit Planned For Soccer Men
For the benefit of the injured players of the Bay Cities Soccer Football league will hold a theater party tomorrow night at the Grand Opera House. The proceeds to go to the aid of players of these teams who have been injured during the league season. H. W. Hare is acting as promoter of the affair for the soccerists, tickets selling at $1.

HARRY WILLS IS ELIMINATED AS DEMPSEY OPPONENT

YOUNG DUDLEY AND JIMMY DUFFY TRAINING HARD FOR BATTLE HERE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Harry Wills Is Not to Get Dempsey Fight

Logical Contender Barred; No Place to Hold Battle in Sight.

By HENRY L. FARRELL, (United Press Sports Editor).
NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(United Press.)—Out of the tangled muddle into which the heavy-weight division was tossed by all the recent activities, only one thing seems certain—Harry Wills will not get a chance at the heavyweight title.

Wills may be the outstanding figure among all the challengers for Jack Dempsey's crown, but he will never get into the ring with Dempsey, because there is no place in which the ring can be pitched.

Feelers were sent out to seven states by parties interested in the proposed bout when it was being agitated in the middle of the summer. The feelers came back cold. Seven governors said: "Under no circumstances."

All of them gave the same grounds that it was not a good thing for boxing and not a good thing for the public. "Its after effects would be too dangerous."

Promoters generally agreed that it was a "risk" to attempt to stage the bout. Conscience and scruples are not necessarily a part of every promoter's make-up. Some of them would do anything and take a chance for the money that would be in it. Others are not that way.

One very prominent promoter had the following to say about it: "Attempts were made to find a place for Dempsey and Wills to get together. Attempts should have been made to show Wills that he was not being discriminated against by the promoters. Official sanction was found to be so overwhelmingly against the match that plans were abandoned."

"No one will say officially that the bout cannot be staged, but it never will be put on. For instance, Governor Smith will not have to take the political chances of refusing to grant permission for the bout in New York, for the simple reason that he has not been asked and will not be asked for a permit. The word has been passed out to all interested to 'lay off' and instructions of that kind are always obeyed."

The difficulty in promoting a heavyweight championship bout between two white men is tremendous and with the color question injected, it is impossible. Governor Miller refused to permit the Dempsey-Carpentier fight in New York, although Tex Rickard offered to turn over part of the receipts to a fund for disabled soldiers. The governor took the stand that it was a prize fight and that he did not think it could be classed as a boxing exhibition within the meaning of the law.

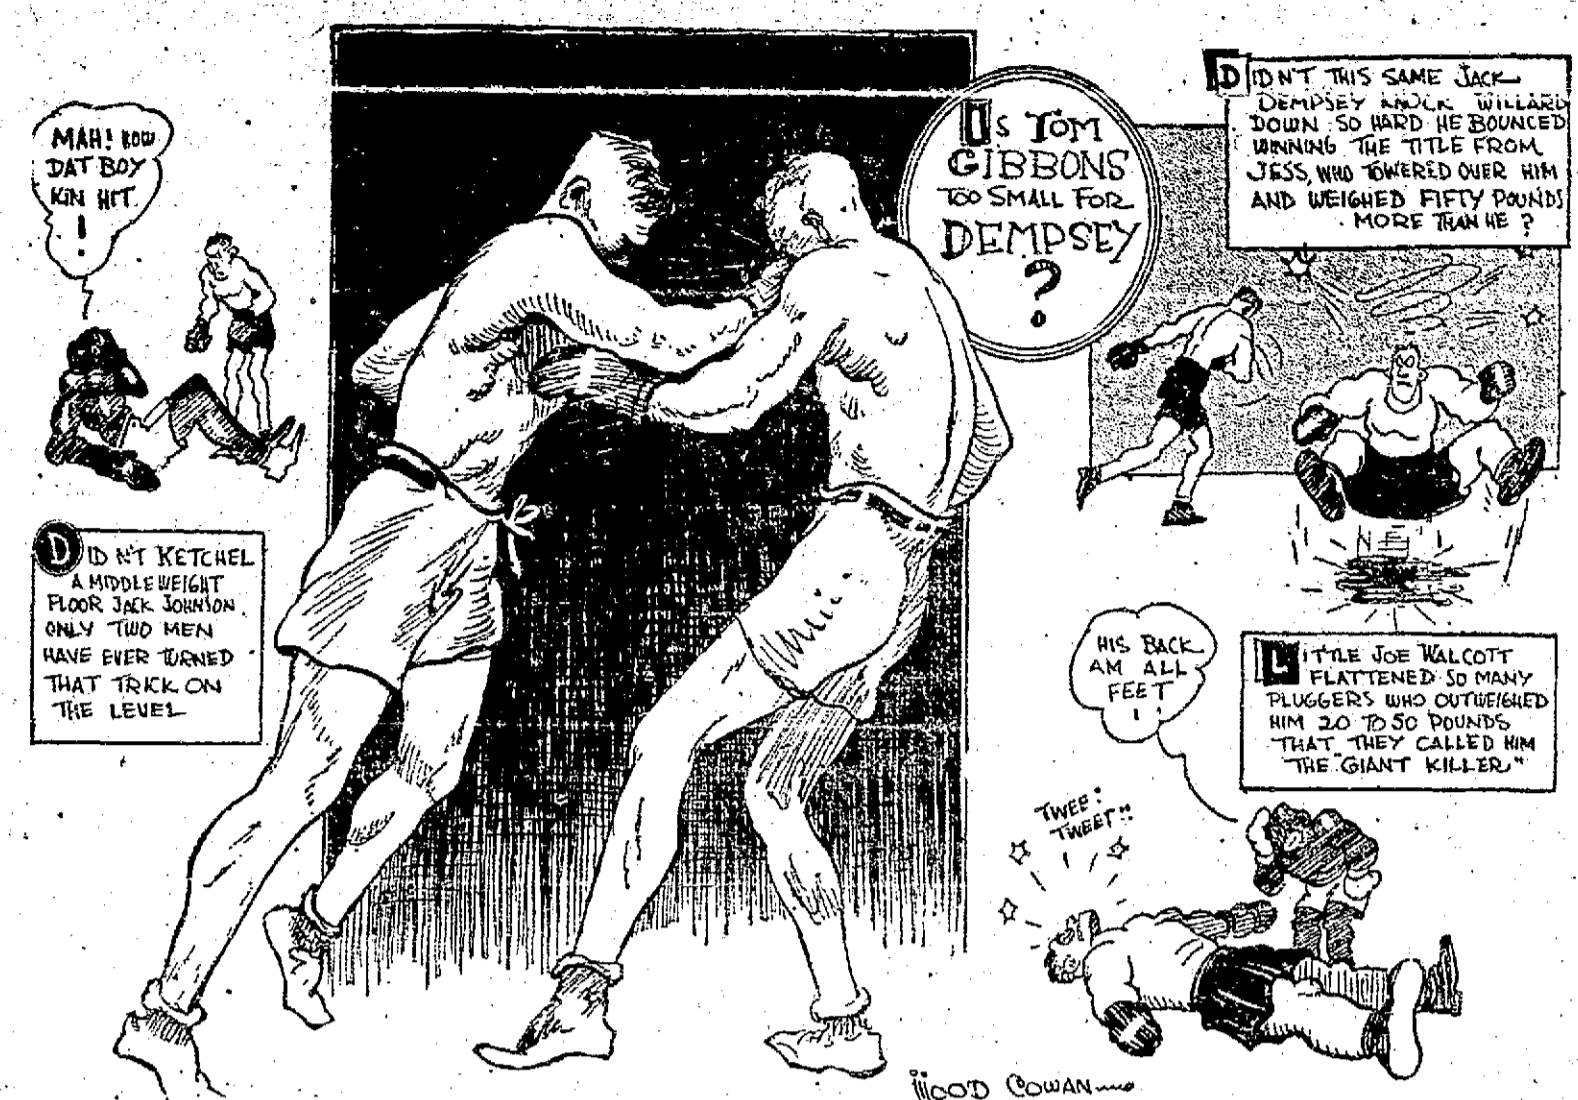

Wills knows how futile it would be for him to demand the bout and so does his manager, Paddy Mallin. That is one of the reasons why they have been taking a "back seat" when all the other contenders were storming the promoters and doing all kinds of loud talking. He is being properly advised and he is intelligent enough and man enough to know that the breaks are against him and that they will not break.

Without full knowledge of the facts, a part of the public will always think that Jack Dempsey was afraid of Wills and that he ran away from him. The fact of the matter is that Dempsey has always wanted to meet Wills and not only because he felt sure his title would not be endangered, but for the reason that Wills would be almost as big a drawing card as Carpentier was. In these days they figure their ability to get them into the arena more than their power to sock.

LITTLE MEN WITH BIG WALLOPS

--By Wood Cowan

A BIG, fast, defensive boxer, with a good left hand, is the fighter that could give Jack Dempsey the most opposition. In a decision fight he might even win on points.

Tom Gibbons is about the only heavyweight who embodies all these requirements, and the argument against Gibbons' ability to cope with the champ is that Tom is too small to even hope for victory.

Is that so?

Just take a slant at the records and you will find that many a thumper who outwitted his opponent from ten to fifty pounds, has been sent to the canvas and many cases K. O'd by a smaller man.

Joe Walcott, who stood 5 feet 1 inch in height and weighed around 145, used to maul Sandy Ferguson to a standstill, and Sandy was 6 feet on his legs and weighed over 200. Gus Ruhlin, who was a 210 pounder, in one round. And how about Gunboat Smith winning a decision over Jess Willard, and the Gunner was fat at 185!

Sam Langford posted a K. O. onto "Iron" Haggen's record of wins and he was a 195-pound giant and one of the best prospects England had developed in many a day. Sam climbed through the ropes at 175.

Willie Lewis was so ambitious he used to flatten cocked heavyweights just to keep in condition, and Willie developed a double chin if he scaled over 160.

If our memory serves us right, Jack Dempsey won the heavyweight crown from a man who towered over him in height and outweighed him 55 pounds or so. Many thought Jack was too small.

John L. Sullivan, weighing close to 200, couldn't lick little Charley Mitchell, a pigmie of 158 avoirdupois. That fight went 39 rounds to a draw. Corbett also gave Sullivan 20 or more pounds when he won the crown from him.

And so to say that Tom Gibbons, weighing 175 and a more experienced ring man than Dempsey even, a more clever boxer with a string of K. O.'s to his credit, but only the champion can match among present-day heavyweights, to say that Tom is too small to tackle a man 15 pounds heavier is a little of the bunk.

Not for one minute are we convinced that Tom can take Jack's measure, but we do believe that a big, clever defensive boxer with a good left hand will give Dempsey an interesting time—and Gibbons is the man who has all those qualifications.

Wilde, Lynch, Kilbane, Wilson and Siki on Verge of Toppling.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(By Associated Press.)—Five of the eight universally recognized boxing champions are likely to be dethroned this year, in the opinion of ring critics, while titleholders in the other three divisions probably also will face strenuous opposition in an effort to retain their laurels. The general outlook is for one of the most interesting fight programs in many years.

Pugilistic kings considered to be in imminent danger of losing their world crowns are: Jimmy Wilde of England, lightweight; Joe Lynch of New York, bantamweight; Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland, featherweight; Johnny Wilson of Boston, middleweight; and Battling Siki of France and Senegal, light heavyweight.

THREE ARE SAFE.

The other titleholders—Benny Leonard of New York, lightweight, Mickey Walker of Elizabeth, N. J., welterweight, and Jack Dempsey, heavyweight, are considered to stay at the top, but while the opposition in their respective ranks is not considered more than threatening, there is always the chance that any of them will receive a fatal tap on the chin.

Wilde, who has been inactive for some time, has been challenged for a title match by Pancho Villa, the scrappy Filipino who took the American lightweight title away from Johnny Buff last year. Villa not only had Johnny Wilson of Boston, middleweight, and Battling Siki of France and Senegal, light heavyweight, but he has frequently come out of his class with decisive success.

The Filipino is ambitious to duplicate Buff's feat in holding both the flyweight and bantamweight belts and has a following which would be ready to back him strongly in a title bout with Joe Lynch. The latter faces two other formidable challengers in Carl Trautman, hard-hitting Cleveland, and Irish Johnny Curtin of Jersey City, N. J.

KILBANE IS GAME.

Kilbane has agreed to stake his featherweight title against the Frenchman, Eugene Criqui, holder of the European championship, in a main event in the Garden of the City, New York, on March 12.

Wilson, another inactive champion, will have difficulty retaining his title if he accepts the challenges of several formidable 150-pound boxers, including Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, Harry Greb of Pittsburgh, who also holds the American light heavyweight title, and Bryan Downey of Cleveland.

Wilson is not recognized as champion in a number of states because of his tactics in avoiding championship matches.

Experts believe either Greb, Tunney, or Tom Gibbons, the leading American light heavyweights, capable of lifting the world's title held by Battling Siki, who acquired the title by knocking out Carl Trautman in Fresno and Oakland.

The Senegalese is still recognized in this country as the champion, despite the ruling of French authorities depriving him of the title because of alleged improper conduct. Experts have an current that he intends to seek several bouts in the United States during the summer.

Benny Leonard faces several strong contenders in the lightweight ranks, including Lew Tendler of Philadelphia, Salator Redman and Charles White, both of Chicago. But the fact that he has previously conquered all three inclines critics to the opinion that he will continue to remain supreme.

In a field of 400 Jean Vermeulen, the famous French runner, won the seventeenth annual race from Versailles to Paris for the Prix Lemonnier recently. Vermeulen completed the distance—about seven and three-quarter miles—in 41 minutes 20.5 seconds, thus beating the official record of 41 minutes 44.2 seconds made in 1913 by Jacques Keyser in his memorable struggle with Boun.

The feat was the more remarkable because Vermeulen finished 350 yards in front of Ed Brossard after plowing his way through innumerable vehicles in driving rain.

Eleven letter men will start competing in the season. Captain MacArthur, last year's champion, and Perry infielders, Mendenhall and Duffy battery men, Rippey, Noonan and Kramkin in the outfield.

The men of last year's squad that will make a strong bid for places on the team this year are Montgomery, Avery and "Lucky" Gill in the infield, Parkinson outfield and Scott and Ellis pitchers.

A host of Hubbard's rookies of last year are expected to turn out this season. The outfielders are, Kolkana, Shaver, Sullivan, Jones, Geertsen and Koller; infielders, Buno, Ridings, Wolverton and

Rube Benton Case Is Again Being Aired

May Be Signed by Cincinnati or Ruled Out of the Major Leagues.

By DAVIS J. WALSH, International News Service Sports Editor.
NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Rube Benton, the left-handed star center of National League politics, will be allowed to sign as a member of the Cincinnati Reds tomorrow or he will be whispered out of the major leagues at the discretion of those who have the famous case at their disposal. His fate will be made known, it is understood, following the annual league schedule meeting tomorrow at the Waldorf.

On that occasion Judge Landis is expected to render a decision. Just what form the verdict will take none but the commissioner himself seems to know. It is believed Landis will decide to leave the decision to a league vote and the showdown will be interesting.

Garry Hermann is in town breathing fire but declining an interview. He is too busy trying to line up a majority of the club owners on his side of the fence in the event a vote is deemed expedient.

Garry needs at least four votes in addition to his own for in case of a deadlock, President Heydler will cast the deciding ballot and its message can be written in advance. Heydler has one on record as being unalterably opposed to Benton's return to the big league, because the latter is said to have used prior information to advantage in betting on the 1919 world's series of unhappy memory and subsequently sold conflicting stories when summoned on the carpet.

WOMAN SUCCESSFUL AS BASEBALL MAGNATE.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—There is no reason why women should not succeed as owners of baseball clubs, if they have good men business managers, according to Mrs. James Dunn, owner of the Cleveland club in the American league, who is here to pass the winter.

She is said to be organized baseball's only woman club owner.

Women can hardly compete with men who have given much of their time to the game, and for this reason, she says, she thinks a business manager and a good playing manager are necessary if a woman wishes to hold her own against other club owners.

Pedigreed Dogs In Portland Show.

PORTLAND, Ore.—More than 200 dog owners of the Pacific Northwest plan to enter pedigreed animals in the Portland show, which will be held at the Oregon State Fair grounds, March 29, 30 and 31, under the auspices of the Oregon State Kennel Club, with a license from the American Kennel Club. This is the first dog show planned for Portland in ten years.

Any dog registered by the American Kennel Club may be exhibited. A hundred silver trophy cups are to be given. The Oregon State Kennel Club, launched last December, has a membership of 125. Dr. J. H. Clough is president, Dr. J. H. Hold, vice-president, Mrs. M. S. Vance, secretary and Mrs. C. Hanson, treasurer.

ANNAPOLIS CREW STARTS TRAINING.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 12.—Candidates for the Naval Academy varsity crew to the number of over fifty reported to Coach Glendon. They were given a short period of work on the machines, and a regular routine of training started. Crews will be put in the water as soon as the weather permits.

The strength and spirit of the crew candidates are impressive, and a determination to maintain the standard of Naval Academy rowing is being shown.

Boiler is the only regular of last year who remains, but there are plenty of former members of junior crews who have had a year or more of rowing under the Glendons.

THE CAPITOL IN LINCOLN'S TIME
—This picture depicts the inauguration of Abraham Lincoln as President of the United States. It was published in 1881 in a New York magazine and shows the work of remodeling the dome of the Capitol at Washington. Two new wings, the Senate wing and the House wing, had just been added to the structure and the dome was found to be too small to be in proportion with the rest of the building. It was found necessary to enlarge the capitol dome in order to preserve the symmetry of the structure.

NAST'S PICTURE OF LINCOLN'S INAUGURATION—At the time this drawing was made photography was more or less in its swaddling clothes and news events were portrayed principally in pen and ink drawings. Nast, the man whose powerful cartoons smashed the Tweed ring, made this drawing of Lincoln's inauguration, which was transferred to a woodcut. He was the artist who created the tiger as the symbol of Tammany, the elephant as the symbol of the Republican party and the donkey as the symbol of the Democratic party.

OCCULT TEMPLE WHICH WENT UP IN FLAMES
—The Swiss Alps near Basel were lighted up by a blaze which could be seen in three countries, when the "Goetheanum," here shown, was burned. It was known as one of the world's strangest temples. It was here that Dr. Rudolph Steiner, the celebrated occultist, lived. His doctrine of anthroposophy caused him to be hated by a wide variety of persons. It is believed that this hatred caused his enemies to start the $2,000,000 fire which ruined his temple.

Uncle Wiggily

Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE FOX.

One day Nurse Jane Fussy Wuzzly said to Uncle Wiggily:

"I'm just going to run over and see Mrs. Twissytail, the lady pig, for a few minutes. I'll be back in time to get tea for you."

"All right," answered the bunny rabbit gentleman with a funny little twinkle of his pink nose, "run along. I'm not going out adventuring this afternoon, as I had one this morning."

And so he had. For earlier in the day, when Uncle Wiggily was hopping across the snow covered field to see his friend, Grandfather Goosey Gander, the rabbit gentleman got stuck in a snow drift and they had to send for Mr. White-wash, the polar bear gentleman, to pull Uncle Wiggily out.

Uncle Wiggily had adventures enough for one day. He noticed Uncle Wiggily, as Nurse Jane Fussy Wuzzly, his muskrat lady housekeeper, started for the pig lady's house. "I'm just stay in my cozy hollow stump bungalow and wait for her to come back and get tea."

Uncle Wiggily sat down in his easy chair to wait. The clock went tick tick and after a while the bunny rabbit said:

"Well, Nurse Jane is staying a little longer than I thought she would. Even if she comes home now it will take her some time to get supper. I'll help by setting the table."

So Uncle Wiggily began putting the plates, knives and forks and cups and saucers on the table. Then he sat down in his easy chair again to wait and the clock went tick tick.

Pretty soon, after a while, not so very long, the bunny rabbit said to himself:

"Well, Nurse Jane is staying much longer than I thought she would. Even if she comes home now it will take her some time to get supper. I'll help by setting the table."

So Uncle Wiggily began putting the plates, knives and forks and cups and saucers on the table. Then he sat down in his easy chair again to wait and the clock went tick tick.

Abe Lincoln—
Man of many moods—
And mighty deeds—
Came from a lowly cradle—
From parentage that dared not vision—
That some day he would rise to heights—
Far—far beyond their ken—
And then as though it were a prank of fate—
The mold was broken—
That held his mighty cast—
And vexing years have come and gone—
And still no man has raised his head—
In all life's millions—
Who could in any way compare—
With this one born so lowly—
And still while groping for the path—
With prophet's eyes—
That was to lead him up the heights—
Through tangled underbrush—
His kind heart ever beat with those—
Who sprang from common clay—
Like him—all unadorned—
And though he gained the pinnacle—
Of man's full-fledged ambition—
He knew the pulse beats of those—
Lost in the quagmire—
Who knew life's desolation—
And from the peak to which he climbed—
With mighty fawning at his heels—
With empty phrase and compliment—
Unmeaning—
He oft looked back with yearning eyes—
And grim-set face—heart saddened—
To days of old—
When sitting with these home-spun folks—
Who held him then as equal—
He told the tales that brought full smiles—
To deep-lined faces—
He lived to miss the full warm grip—
Of honest people—
And shadows came into his eyes—
And hollow places came beneath them—
For now they looked in wonder way—
From some far distance—
And breathed his mighty name in awe—
For mankind plants a barrier—
Between the high and lowly—
That though each seeks to overcome—
They find it folly—
And so he died with hungry heart—
Abe Lincoln—mankind's martyr—
He was a god—
But longed to be a lowly brother—
So as they made of him a god—
He died for them.

EDITH BLACKSTONE has done a most amazing thing. She has gone on a strike for a salary.

Edith Blackstone draws a salary of $100 per month as manager for the Howard Dittworth Co. Before her marriage Edith made almost as much with her interior decorating shop. They now live comfortably, but not luxuriously, with their two children in a seven room bungalow in the suburbs.

Edith does all the work. She's a healthy girl, with a systematized mind and a ball-bearing disposition, so she manages without too much friction or weariness. Still, she works hard for longer hours than she did in her shop, carries infinitely more responsibility, and receives in personal payment—exactly nothing. So Edith has gone on a strike.

"Putting the question of love aside," says she, "Gene has no more right to expect me to work for nothing than the Howard Dittworth people would have to expect him to work for nothing. I should be given a certain definite proportion of our monthly income as a definite salary, over and above my share in our daily living and monthly savings. I realize that it cannot be a great sum. The larger part of my salary consists of my board and keep and Gene's and the babies' love. But I feel that I have a right to some money on which the family can make no claim."

Whereupon Eugene has waxed exceedingly wrath. "I never heard of such nonsense!" he storms. "Don't you get all I get?"

"No, I don't," replies Edith. "I don't get the joy of a career which you get. I don't have the fun of competition, of making good, and watching my salary grow in proportion to my efforts. "Why should you want competition or a career? Aren't you my wife?"

"Yes, but I was a successful professional woman before I was your wife and I'm still a competent, intelligent human being as well as a housekeeper. Husbanding and fathering isn't enough for you. You should wining and mothering be enough for me?"

"Well, your mother and grandmother were satisfied with it."

"Yes, but my mother and grandmother had no other way of earning a living. They sacrificed no career when they became wives and mothers. But I do."

So there you have the makings of a bewildering but typically modern domestic situation. What do YOU think of it?

No Closed Season on Fanchon.

When a Frenchman goes hunting he takes the sport rather seriously. In certain districts there isn't much in the way of game for him to kill. So the native makes up for this by wearing a rather elaborate and fanciful costume.

An American, visiting in the chateau country, was invited by his host to go for a rabbit hunt on the preserves of a gentleman living nearby. With a borrowed gun in his hands and wearing his oldest clothes, the American went. Alongside him, as they trudged through the cover, walked the Frenchman, gorgeous in gaiters and belted jacket, with a pheasant's feather curling from the brim of his hat.

Presently a bunny darted from a thicket. The American raised his fowling-piece.

"Don't shoot!" cried out his host. "That's Armand, a great pet of ours. We never shoot at Armand."

A little further along a second rabbit hopped into view on the path that led through the woods. Again the visitor made ready to fire and again his host detained him with the words: "That one is Pierre. We never shoot at Pierre, either."

Almost immediately, a third rabbit, a long rangy animal, came bounding into sight.

"Shoot! Shoot!" cried the Frenchman, throwing his own gun to his shoulder. "That is Fanchon. We always shoot at Fanchon."

Last Sunday me and Puds Simkins was taking a walk, being a pretty long of a walk, and all of a sudden we saw a wawking around looking lost but Sid Hunt, our terrier Teddy, me saying, "Giz, waw, you think of that, how did he get all the ways out here, G. wizz he's lost."

Lets take him back and get the reward, half for me and half for you, Puds sed.

G. wizz all rite, here Teddy, I sed. Today not coming on account of generally never answering anybody but Sid and usually not even him, and Puds sed, "Well half to catch him, you chase him torde me and I'll stop him."

Wich we started to do, being hard on account of Teddy being so much easier to chase than what he was to stop Puds falling down he was trying to stop him and me and Puds sed, "Giz, waw, we both got so tired we sat down on somebody's front steps for a rest and waw did Teddy sed, waw waw rite up to us waggling the last half of his body, and I grabbed a hold of him and picked him up and me and Puds started to waww me waww him, Teddy wawwling more like a fish than a dog and me and Puds taking the dog carrying him about every half of a block, saying, G. I wouldnt want to haff to carry dogs for a living.

I wouldnt even want to haff to do it for pleasure, Puds sed.

Wich just then we herd somebody yelling in back of us and who was it but Sid Hunt running after us, saying, Hay, waw, waw, you doing, waw, you going?

Alint he lost? Puds sed and Sid sed, Certing he dint, he was just waiting outside while I was in my anta house. Cant a guy go in his anta house? he sed.

Aw heck, me and Puds sed. And me and him and Sid wawwled the rest of the way home and Teddy wawwled a hold of the way and ran part as usual.

THE DIET OF SUE.

Jewett Hlatt had a diet; It was sued. He would fry it. And apply it from a crust, And thus Hlatt would go to it. But when Jewett got the flu, it Brought a call from Doctor Ho.

Doctor DeWitt Howatt knew "at Jewett Hlatt lived on sued."

Hlatt, for there's nothing to it. Hlatt said: "Before you boo it, Try out sued at a diet; You'd O. K. it. It's a riot."

"No," said Howatt, "I pooh-pooh it; You can keep your sued diet; You might make a Plute buy it, Hlatt, or a kiote chew it; But you can't make DeWitt do it."

SMILES

A well-known furniture dealer of a Virginia town wanted to give his faithful negro driver something for Christmas in recognition of his unflinching good humor in toting out stoves, beds, pianos, etc. "Dobson," he said, "you have helped me through some pretty tight places in the last ten years, and I want to give you something as a Christmas present that you will enjoy. Which do you prefer, a ton of coal or a gallon of coal whisky?"

"Boss," Dobson replied, "Ah burns wood."

Misses—Now, Ads, I want you to show us what you can do tonight. We have a few very special friends coming for a musical evening.

Cook—Well, mum, I haven't done any singin' to speak of for years, but as you insists upon it you can put me down for "The City City!"

"You charge too much admission to this pier."

"But the music, the ocean!"

"The music pier is all well enough, but I'm paying my hotel for the use of the ocean."

Level-Headed Love Slick Love Tempestuous Love

By Kathleen Norris

Harriet glanced at her wrist before she answered Ward. Her heart was sick within her. Close upon her radiant dream had come this shadow, far more a shadow now, when her responsibility had infinitely increased, and when she had had proof of the love and respect in which they held her here.

"I don't think so!" she said briefly. "I'll find Bottomley, and have lunch put ahead."

"You don't like him?" Ward said, waiting for her to reply.

"I don't like him for Nina!" she amended.

The boy followed her while she gave her order. Then they went out into the blazing day together.

"Nina isn't going to have more than a scalp a day," said her brother, fraternally.

"Nina has a fortune!" the girl remarked, drily, opening her wide white parasol.

But Ward was rapidly squandering an equal amount, and it was not impressive to him.

"Lord, he could marry a girl with ten times that! Look here, you don't think a man like Blondin would consider that?" he protested.

"I would rather see Nina dead and buried!" the girl burst from Harriet against her will, against her promise to Royal.

There was no help for it, her essential honesty would have its way. "I make a splendid conspirator!" she said to herself, in grim self-contempt.

"Talk to him!" Ward, fortunately, was not inclined to take her too seriously. "You'll like him! Gosh, he certainly has a good effect on me," added the youth, modestly.

"He doesn't drink, and he talks to me—you ought to hear him!" about character being fat, and all that! Say, listen, before we get out of the woods—"

His sudden sense of her nearness and beauty belied the careless words. Harriet found his earnest tight about her, her face tipped up to the young, handsome face that was stirred now with trembling excitement. The quick movement of his breast she could feel against her own, and the passion of his eyes almost frightened her; she was held, bound, half-lifted off her feet.

"Ward!" she gasped, freed at last, and with one hand to her disordered hair, while the other held his arm's length. "Pearl! Please!"

It was no use. Soul and senses were enveloped again, and close to her ear she heard his whisper: "I'm mad about you. Do you know that?"

"I think you are!" she stammered, breathless and laughing. "You mustn't do that! You mustn't do that! Why, we might be seen!"

Breathless, too, he flung back his head and stooped to pick up her parasol.

"Do you think I care," he panted, indifferently. "I wouldn't care if the whole world saw!"

"Sh-sh!" by the magic only known to youth and womanhood, Harriet had gathered herself into trimness and calm again. She took her parasol composedly. Her eyes told him the whole story. Nina and Royal Blondin were two hundred yards away, coming up from the tennis court.

The four met cheerfully; apparently all at ease. Nina was stammering and blushing a trifle more than usual, but Royal's presence would account for that.

Harriet found herself sauntering ahead of the young Carters, discussing Sheringham fans with the dilettante.

"You fool—fool—fool!" she said to herself. "What has she seen? What new twist to the situation would Nina's suspicions afford? Richard Carter trusted her; this was no time to tell him that she loved his son. Did she love Ward? or with his keen and kindly eyes would Ward's father see exactly what she saw in the marriage? Caught kissing in the woods—like Rosa or Germaine; it was unthinkable! She, with her hard-won prestige of dignity and reserve, exposed to Nina's laughing insinuations, or worse, Nina's prim disapproval. How she had weakened her position here! How she had risked—her heart contracted with pain—severing of her association with womanhood."

Launched under its veneer of civility and politeness, offered fresh terror. For on Nina's Carter had come down, and it occurred to Harriet that if Nina had seen anything in the wood, she might naturally interest her grandmother with an account of it. Nina rarely had so interesting a topic of conversation. The old lady would go instantly to her son. And Richard—Richard could imagine him, tired, harassed, heartless over the recent inexplicable weakness of his wife, having to face another woman's treachery, having to listen to the demure announcement of the little secretary's engagement to Nina's laughing insinuations. Perhaps not treachery, exactly, thought Harriet, as the birds, and the asparagus, and the crisp little rolls went the rounds. She ate, hardly knowing what she tasted, and spoke with only a partial consciousness of what she heard. No, not treachery exactly, especially if she went to Richard first with the news.

But break in upon his painful speculations with the little announcement? What must he think of such utter lack of consideration? He was experiencing the most overwhelming shock of his life now; he must, shortly be exposed to all the whirl of scandal; the attention of the world, the eyes of his gossiping, the wretched weeks with their muddy insinuations, the staring fact, headlined above his name, that he had been deceived. This was his time to efface himself and the household, to help him to lift the load.

"I'm afraid I wasn't listening, Mr. Blondin!"

"Miss Nina and I want to know what day we may have our party?" Royal repeated.

"The usual party?"

"The usual party?"

"The usual party?"

"The usual party?"

"The usual party?"

going to have it from half-past six to half-past seven only, because then it won't be too late. We shall only ask the people we like. Gira Diabole will come and dance for us, and Tilly will read something."

"That's Unger Tiltotson, the actor!" Nina interpolated, ecstatically.

"We're not sure that we'll let Francesca and Amy come," Blondin pursued. "Maybe we won't let them know anything about it. And everybody has to wear costumes, so that the picture won't be spoiled."

"He doesn't like Amy and Francesca!" Nina confessed, with a guilty little laugh.

"Not at all. I like them very much." Blondin's languid, rich voice corrected her. Nina shrank sensitively. "I think they're very charming little schoolgirls. But I don't want them for my friends!"

"At this Nina blossomed like the rose. Emotion coked her, and she looked down at her plate with a fluttering laugh. This was irrefutable; before Miss Harriet and Ward and Granny, too.

"That's what I meant!" she murmured, thickly.

"Why not have it at night, with lanterns?" Harriet said, quite involuntarily. And gain a pang of self-contempt swept over her. It was hateful, it was incredible, but she was playing his game as calmly as if doubts and reluctance had never entered her heart.

Mince some shrimp, some green and red peppers, some green corn, and a very little onion. Let simmer in a little butter; add salt to taste, and enough chill sauce to moisten it, and a few bread crumbs. Fill halves of hard-boiled eggs, with the yolks removed, heaping full, and cover with tops; heat in the oven, place on buttered rice, pour a thick cream sauce over the eggs, and sprinkle the chopped yolks over all.

SHRIMP PIE.

Four into a saucepan, 2 tablespoonsful tomatoes, 1 tablespoonful browned flour, 1/4 teaspoonful minced parsley, 1/4 teaspoonful minced onion, 1 teaspoonful salt, a dash of cayenne pepper, and 1/4 cups of stock. Cook for five minutes and strain. Add 2 cans chopped shrimp; 2 tablespoonsful butter, and 1 tablespoonful Worcestershire sauce. Served in cooked pastry.

EGGS AND SHRIMP.

Mash the shrimp fine, season with salt, white pepper and mace, and moisten with cream sauce. Shape into thin round cakes, place one poached egg on each and pour on a rich cream sauce. Garnish with slices of truffles, trace meat glaze over it in thin lines.

BAKED SHRIMP.

Butter a dish well and put in it a layer of grated bread crumbs or powdered crackers. Stew 3 tomatoes in 1/4 tablespoonful butter, and sprinkle with pepper and salt. Place a layer of tomatoes in the dish and spread bread crumbs over them. Wash 1 can shrimp and season well; put a layer of shrimp in the dish. Repeat layers of tomatoes, crumbs and shrimp; spread crumbs and small dabs of butter on top; bake till well browned.

Clarice PatternsHer Graduation or Party Frock.
(No. 1668)

Tiers of material in overskirt fashion are quite the latest in frocks for little girls as well as for grown-ups. Patterns for the frock shown, which exploits this popular present-day detail and in addition boasts a bertha collar, are cut in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. To make the frock in the 8-year size will require 3 3/4 yards 40-inch material with 6 3/4 yards edging and 1 3/4 yards

Most sophisticated young people who are about to graduate will probably insist upon a silk frock—crepe de Chine, pussy-willow or georgette being the most advisable. But however, one that is equally as smart and pretty could be made of a fine voile or sheer batiste and of course the cost would be a deal less. In fact, made of voile, the entire little garment could be finished for about $3.55 for an excellent quality voile can be bought for about 75c per yard, edging at 10c per yard and ribbon at 20c per yard.

TELLEGEN WAIVES CROSS-QUIZ OF GERRY AT TRIAL

Farrar, at Divorce Hearing, Testifies of Husband's Misconduct.

By Associated Press
LEADERS WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Geraldine Farrar took the stand in the divorce proceedings against Lou Tellegen and testified that she had "personally verified" the charges of misconduct alleged in her petition. Asked if she condoned his acts, she replied, "No." The trial, which lasted less than two minutes, most of which she spent in answering "yes" and "no" to technical questions put by her lawyer and the referee, Arthur Schwartz, counsel for Tellegen, who is playing in the west did not cross-examine her. He told reporters after the hearing that it was Tellegen's wish that she know what Tellegen said. He commented, quoting the actor's published attitude: "Let the lady and her divorce."

Miss Farrar arrived at the referee's office shortly after 11 o'clock. She was accompanied by Alvin Untermyer, her lawyer and a private detective. She wore a broad tailored cloth with chinchilla collar and was heavily veiled. When she had finished she donned her veil and departed through a line of departing photographers to her waiting limousine. Her testimony ended today's hearing. The case will be continued Wednesday.

Man Is Jailed For Firing at Official

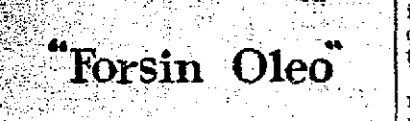

BERKELEY, Feb. 12.—Complaint of Deputy Sheriff D. E. Berry of El Cerrito that Vice Plume, 2734 Eighth street, and his wife attacked Berry with a revolver when he went to their home to attach their automobile, resulted in the arrest of Plume today on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Berry declared that Plume had shot at him. Plume was arrested by Policeman William S. Dean and is being held in default of $5000 bail pending his preliminary hearing tomorrow morning.

Legion Maps Aid For Schools and Scouts

BERKELEY, Feb. 12.—The meeting tomorrow night at Berkeley Post No. 7 of the American Legion will be devoted to a discussion on how the legionnaires can best co-operate with the public schools and Boy Scouts in spreading the gospel of better American citizenship.

The principal speakers will be President William B. Herms of the board of education, also a legionnaire, and Dr. Hubert N. Rowell, executive head of the Boy Scouts movement in Berkeley and a strong supporter of the Legion.

"Forsin Oleo"

So answered the grey-bearded patriarch when the emperor, Augustus, asked him the secret of his great strength and agility.

"Forsin oleo"—meaning "oil for the outside." Of course this young old man meant olive oil for that was the oil of those days just as it has been the oil ever since.

Fire olive oil is applied externally by massaging the skin and is also taken internally for anemic, under nourished and run-down systems. It also acts as a gentle laxative, lubricating, soothing and healing the much abused intestinal tract.

Use Syllmar Olive Oil for it is olive oil in its pure form.

Films for "Cabinet Belle"

NANCY LANE KAUFFMAN, daughter of the late Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, who is planning to enter movies following shattering of her romance with her wealthy young husband.

FORMER NANCY LANE QUILTS MATE TO ENTER FILMS

Nancy Lane Kauffman, daughter of the late Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the interior, is in Los Angeles today preparing to enter the movies, following her final breaking with her wealthy young husband, Philip C. Kaufman, clubman and son of a Washington, D. C. publisher.

This announcement which was made today by Kauffman and members of the Lane family, marks the shattering of a youthful romance that culminated three years ago in one of the most brilliant weddings of recent years in Washington society.

With her mother and her 13-months-old daughter, Mrs. Kaufman, who is barely 20, is at the home of her brother, Franklin K. Lane, Jr., 671 Iroquois avenue, Los Angeles, according to her aunt, Mrs. Maugus A. Anderson, of 235 Mather street, Oakland.

Her 23-year-old husband, Philip C. Kaufman, is in Washington, D. C., where in an interview last night he confirmed rumors that he and his wife had definitely and permanently separated.

Friends of Mrs. Kauffman declared today that her plan is to enter the movies, either as an actress or scenario writer. She already has made successful amateur appearances upon the stage, and has also written one-act plays that have been produced exceedingly cleverly. It was pointed out that it is her intention, her friends said, to submit scenarios to several of the Los Angeles film producers, and at the same time to apply at the studios for acting parts.

As Nancy Lane, and then as Mrs. Kauffman, the young woman has been prominent in the public eye in San Francisco, where she was born, or Washington when her father was appointed to the Interstate Commerce Commission. When her father was secretary of the interior under President Wilson, she was known as the "belle of the cabinet," and one of her numerous escapades, when she "kidnaped" the young Duke of Brabant during a state dinner to the Belgian royal family, attracted world-wide attention.

WEDDING BRILLIANT

Her wedding was attended by President Wilson, most of his cabinet, foreign diplomats, and other members of the most exclusive circles of capital society. At that time she was only 17, and her husband 20. The wedding occurred in April, 1920, and has been pronounced the most brilliant in Washington society during President Wilson's administration.

Mrs. Kauffman is well known in social circles in the Eastbay and in San Francisco, where she was a frequent visitor before her marriage.

SOCIETY WOMAN LOSES WARDROBE IN HOME THEFT

BERKELEY, Feb. 12.—All of the expensive wardrobes of Mrs. Gordon Hobbs, prominent in Berkeley society circles, except the clothes she wore, was stolen yesterday.

Returning to their home at 1621 Capitol avenue yesterday morning after spending the evening with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs found the residence ransacked. Practically every garment owned by Mrs. Hobbs was taken including a fur coat valued at $1000. Entrance was gained through a rear window of the Hobbs home and jewelry supplemented the loot of the burglars which is valued at several thousand dollars.

Three other burglaries marked the week-end in the college city. At the home of T. H. Reid, 2760 Baker street, two guns were taken while $100 in jewelry formed the loot from the home of W. C. Harrison, 2441 Sacramento street. George Blake, a guest at the Hotel White-cotton, reported to the police that his room was entered and $100 in currency stolen.

Funeral Held For Alameda Pioneer

ALAMEDA, Feb. 12.—Funeral services were held in Alameda today for Mrs. Antoinette Traube, aged resident of the western section of the city, whose death occurred Saturday at the family residence, 1531 Webster street, following an illness of a month.

Mrs. Traube was the widow of Hartwig Traube, pioneer jeweler in Alameda county. A native of Germany, 36 years of age, Mrs. Traube had resided in this city for nearly fifty years.

Last Rites Said For Fraternal Leader

ALAMEDA, Feb. 12.—Funeral services were held in Alameda today under the auspices of the Fruitvale Lodge No. 336, F. & A. M., for William Lorenzo White, well known fraternal man of the bay region, whose death occurred at the family home in this city Friday night.

White, who was 62 years of age, was a native of Illinois and had made his home in the Emclinal city for more than eight years.

9805 AUTOISTS ARRESTED IN CITY DURING YEAR 1922

Fifty-five Killed, 1084 Hurt, Shows the Report of Police Chief.

Accidents and injuries resulting therefrom have increased in Oakland in ratio to the general growth of the city, according to a report to Commissioner Frank Colbourn by Chief of Police James T. Drew.

During 1922 there were 8651 misdemeanor arrests for violations of the traffic laws, and 143 felony arrests, a total of 9303. This is the greatest number in the history of Oakland.

There were 1084 persons injured in motor accidents in Oakland during 1922, and 55 killed.

"The figures show the need for safety first driving and for rigid suppression of those who do not observe safety first rules," says Chief Drew.

The entire police traffic bureau is now part of a general safety organization.

Arrests for violations of prohibition acts for 1922 were 927, and up to February 6 this year were 76. Arrests made for violations of narcotic laws during year 1922 were 148.

Valley Bloc Will Back Wood on Schools

VISALIA, Feb. 12.—The San Joaquin valley legislative bloc is the name of a movement launched here as result of a meeting of principals of Tulare county high schools at which the stand of Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, in opposing Governor Richardson's budget, was approved.

The object of the "bloc," it was announced, is to assure, if possible, "funds sufficient to guarantee adequate school operation for the next two years." A meeting is planned with the assemblymen and state senators of the valley counties to learn the facts concerning the budget appropriation and to formulate plans, if possible, to assist Superintendent Wood's campaign to secure more money for the operation of the school system of the state.

Proprietor Jailed After Liquor Raid

HAYWARD, Feb. 12.—Arrested on a John Doe warrant, the proprietor of the Jackson Inn here will face the court tomorrow morning following a raid on his place of business early Sunday morning. The man gave his name as Joe Thomas. The parlor is located on the corner of Jackson and Socorro streets. F. P. Schilling, city marshal, and Joe Brandon, assistant, conducted the raid, seizing three bottles of gin, a quantity of wine and some brandy, they say. The case will come before Judge Jacob Harter Jr.

Sinus Coolidge, arrested for disturbing the peace Sunday morning, and said by the officer to be intoxicated, will also be before Judge Harter's court tomorrow morning.

Boston Architect to Be Honored in Berkeley

BERKELEY, Feb. 12.—The arts and crafts committee of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce, through the courtesy of John Galen Howard, has arranged for an informal reception to C. Howard Walker, Boston architect, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The reception will be held at the Berkeley Arts and Crafts Shop, and invitations have been sent to more than 100 handicraft workers who are listed by the Chamber of Commerce and the Arts and Crafts Shop as Berkeley residents professionally engaged in art and handicraft work.

1 DEAD, 5 HURT, IS MOTOR TOLL FOR BAY REGION

Oakland Man Is Killed When Motorcycle Plunges Over
Skyline Boulevard.

One man dead and five persons injured is the toll of automobile and motorcycle accidents in the bay region during the week-end.

DEAD.
Arthur Rankin, 22, a mechanic, 1110 Thirtieth street.

INJURED.
Daniel Bugnotto, 6439 Salem street; cuts and bruises.

Stephen Murante, 17, 1260 Sixty-first street, fractured left arm and bruises and lacerations.

William H. Davis, 57, 928 Myrtle street, severely bruised about the head and body.

Karl Kiens, 28, 47 Eighth street, possible fractured skull.

William Leslie, 23, 1925 Grove street, cuts and bruises.

Rankin was killed instantly when the motorcycle, which he and Lester Nichol, 2175 Curtiss street, Berkeley, were riding plunged over a 20-foot embankment of the Skyline Boulevard, late yesterday. Nichol leaped from the machine and was not injured. According to the police Rankin, driver of the motorcycle, became confused and attempted to pass an automobile approaching from the opposite direction.

Bugnotto was injured when the automobile he was driving was hit by a Richmond street car on San Pablo avenue, near Sixty-fifth street, last night. He was thrown through the windshield.

Murante received his hurts when his motorcycle skidded on the wet pavement on Fifty-fifth street last night and he was thrown off. He was taken to the emergency hospital in a police ambulance.

While watching a Salvation Army parade late yesterday at Fifteenth street and San Pablo avenue, Davis was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph J. Wilson. Wilson took his victim to the Receiving hospital, where he was treated.

Struck down at Broadway and Eleventh street, in the heart of Oakland's business district, by an automobile which did not stop, Kiens, suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, walked more than six blocks to the Emergency hospital for treatment. He told authorities that the machine was traveling so fast that he was unable to get out of the way.

Leslie was hurt when he was run down by an automobile driven by Donald Petrie, at Sixteenth street and San Pablo avenue. He was treated at the Emergency hospital.

Parent-Teachers Hear Senator West

ALAMEDA, Feb. 12.—Senator T. C. West was the principal speaker today at the patriotic meeting of the Alameda Federation of the Parent-Teacher Associations, which was held in the auditorium of the Lincoln school with the members of the Lincoln School P. T. A. acting as a reception committee.

Schools and education bills introduced during the session of the legislature last month were related in detail to the club women by Senator West.

Mrs. W. S. Marston, president of the second district P. T. A., spoke on the "P. T. A. Up-to-date," while Mrs. Arthur Painter, state financial secretary, gave a short history of Founders' Day, February 17, which will be observed by the Federation with appropriate exercises.

'Pastime Kisses' Turned to Real Love by Shot

Girl Who Attempted Suicide
Is Wounded and Wed by Man She Desired.

A man's "pastime kisses," a broken-hearted girl, an attempt at suicide and then the awakening of love on the man's part followed by wedding bells today, forms the love story of Otis Tout and 19-year-old Leslie Ethel Dye, who shot herself three weeks ago, because of what she believed was unrequited love.

The two were married in Sacramento, according to the youth's mother, Mrs. Nellie Tout, 1121 Linden street, and will live at 583 Twenty-second street following their honeymoon.

Tout did not realize how much the girl loved him until she had shot herself on his account, his mother said. After that he discovered also that he could not do without her and while she lay on what was feared to be her death bed, he proceeded with the real love-making that he had neglected before when she recovered and no sooner was she out of the hospital than they were married.

Before shooting herself on January 19, Miss Dye wrote a letter to Tout in which she said her act was prompted by her despair over the fact that while she was in love with him, he gave her only "pastime kisses."

"Please don't hate me for doing this," she pleaded. "It had to come some day and it would be easier this way than later when you tired of me. I can't bear to wait for that. To keep searching your face every time I see you—it is hideous."

She cited many acts of his that had indicated to her that he did not take their love affair seriously, and that he was not the "marrying kind."

The girl wrote the letter between hands during a card game at the home of Tout's sister, adding a few lines to it each time that she had a few moments free. When she had finished the letter, and had sealed and addressed it to Tout, she walked into an adjoining room, picked up a revolver, and shot herself in the right breast.

Firemen to Hold Benefit Dance

ALAMEDA, Feb. 12.—Alameda firemen on Saturday night, April 14, will hold their first annual ball in the Neptune beach dancing pavilion, according to an announcement made today.

Olli Fisher has been named chairman of the arrangement committee with Rene J. Coombes and Joseph Lane assisting. All firemen who are off duty the night of the dance will serve on the reception committee. The entire proceeds from the ball will be donated to the treasury of the Alameda Firemen-Police benefit association.

Smelting Concern.

The Eureka Croesus Mining company, of Eureka, Nev., a large part of whose stock is owned in Oakland, has been purchased by the newly formed Eureka Smelting and Mining company for $3,000,000, according to word received here today.

With the acquisition of the Eureka Croesus properties, the new company becomes one of the strongest mining concerns operating in Nevada, it was declared. The company also controls the Eureka Nevada railroad, an 80-mile narrow-gauge line between Eureka and Palisade, Nev., as the result of a million-dollar deal which followed recent negotiations in San Francisco.

The new company is headed by George T. Wilson, who resigned as
